FEDERAL AUTO WARRANT ISSUED IN MOONSHINE MURDER INQUIRY

John Giannola, Merchant, Sought for Questioning by Madison Authorities, Named Under Dyer Act.

ORIGINAL BUYER LIVED IN DETROIT

Michigan License Plate Found on Place Where Constable and Pal Were Slain—Owner Missing.

Federal and Madison County authorities have been unable to find John Giannola of 4815 Maffitt avenue, wealthy wholesale grocer, named by Federal officers on a Dyer act warrant and by Illinois state officers for questioning in the investigation of the murders of Constable Ohmer Hockett and John Balke, whose bodies were found in a single grave at a large moonshine Lake moonshining camp Friday.

The Federal warrant, charging interstate transportation of a stolen automobile, was issued here yesterday afternoon after an automobile, reported stolen on Jan. 12 from in front of the home of its owner, Angelo Saputo, 4322 Maffitt avenue, was found at a granite City filling station.

The machine, a Ford touring car, linked with the murder investigation by the fact that it was towed to a Granite City garage on Jan. 12 from the home of Harry Goldmann, who Constable Hockett and Balke apparently were held captive week before being killed last Thursday or Friday.

It was Giannola's order, relayed by his truck driver, that sent Earl Nichols, garage mechanic, after the Ford declared. And it was an order given by Giannola in person that authorized the installation of a set of new tires on the car, according to Harry Goldmann, proprietor of a Granite City tire shop and filling station.

Auto Linked With Case.
The same automobile is connected with the moonshiners' plant in all another way. It was traced in an investigation by the Post-Dispatch. The car was traced originally by Maurice Fox, a dealer in Detroit, to Sam Giannola of 1389 East Congress street, who in the shed at the Horse-Lake farm, moonshiners' headquarters, was issued, plate No. 373-220. It was issued, investigation showed, to Sam and Joe Giuliano, 1389 East Congress street.

Saputo, the present owner of the automobile originally bought by Giannola in Detroit, was not seen here home today. A Philadelphia reporter called there. He said he had left the house last night and would be gone a week. He added that he did not know where he was, that he frequently sent himself from home for several days.

Mrs. Saputo said she did not know the occupation of her husband. He had, she said, once worked for the city as a laborer for several days, the only period at which she ever had known just what work he was doing.

Men From In Front of Home. The Ford touring car was stolen Jan. 12, she said, although Saputo reported the date as Jan. 13. Mrs. Saputo said they had owned the car only a few months. When it was taken, she is not acquainted with the Giannola family who live just a few doors away.

Mrs. Giannola reiterated today that her husband has been away on three weeks visiting salesmen in this wholesale grocery company, and that he is now in Florida. However, Mrs. Katherine Ramsey, wife of a Madison police captain, told a Post-Dispatch reporter that Giannola was in St. Louis Feb. 7 and that he talked with him last night in front of his store at 4815 and Biddle streets.

Wife's Story Challenged.
Giannola, it developed, rents a two-story brick building at 4815 and Madison streets in Madison, in which he stores sugar and other materials. On the day in question, Mrs. Ramsey said, she went to St. Louis to collect the rent. She said he was short of money and would pay me for two months March 1, she said. "I am sure was Giannola. I could not be mistaken on that point. And I am continued on Page 2, Column 4.

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 9.—Miss Florence E. Allen, Supreme Court Judge, the first woman to be elected to a State Supreme bench, now aspires to a seat in the United States Senate.

She will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination and if successful will oppose Senator Frank B. Willis, Republican, in November.

Anticipating Miss Allen's candidacy, the local Democratic organization is already on record as endorsing her. Miss Allen was elected to the Supreme Court in 1923. Her term expires in 1929.

NEW YORK CITY MAYOR ORDERED TO BED IN ALBANY

Physician Takes Action to Guard Against Possibility of Pneumonia—Condition Not Serious.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 9.—To guard against the possibility of pneumonia, Mayor James J. Walker of New York City today was ordered to remain in bed at the Hotel Ten Eyck. He had come here to urge the Legislature to favor extension of New York City's bond indebtedness limit to permit further subway work. He has a slight attack of bronchitis, but his illness is not serious, his physician said.

Mayor Walker's illness was plainly apparent when he visited the Senate chamber. He looked so weary that Senator William F. Love, a physician, took him into a committee room and examined him.

The physical condition of Mayor Walker is ascribed to his compliance with the many demands for his presence at public functions. He showed signs of strain at the dinner of the Real Estate Board of New York City Saturday and collapsed on Sunday. He broke down again after attending a luncheon of the Bond Club of New York, and hurrying back to City Hall to welcome officers and crew of the liner Westphalia, rescuers of the crew of a Dutch freighter.

GEN. PERSHING AT KEY WEST ON WAY HOME TO HOSPITAL

Showing Effects of Poor Health, He Plans to Enter Washington Institution at Once.

By the Associated Press. KEY WEST, Fla., Feb. 9.—Gen. John J. Pershing arrived here today aboard the United States cruiser Denver, en route to Washington, from Africa, Chile, where he served until recently as naval commander of the Taca-Arica Fleetside Commission.

Gen. Pershing appeared to be in very poor health, but said that his condition was "fair," and declined to discuss reports that ill-health had prompted his resignation in South American boundary dispute and his immediate return to the United States.

"I am not on the sick list," he said, "but I suppose my health for the past few months would entitle me to be excepted from the fact that I have not been on active military duty. It is true that I have been under my physician's care. I intend to enter the Walter Reed Hospital on my return to Washington, but can't say how long I'll stay there."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—A bill to increase the salaries of all Federal judges was approved today by the House Judiciary Committee.

POSSE KILLS ONE ROBBER, CAPTURES FOUR IN FIGHT

Flight of Band From Clinton, Ia., Halted at Chadwick, Ill., When Armed Men Block Road.

TWO IN PARTY WERE TAKEN FROM OFFICERS

Wild Ride Across State Line Follows Freeing of Pair Just Convicted of Payroll Holdup.

By the Associated Press. CLINTON, Ia., Feb. 9.—One man was killed, another probably fatally wounded and three others, including Alfred Fairfield and Frank Sawyer, convicted payroll robbers, were captured near Chadwick, Ill., near here, today, when they attempted to shoot their way through a posse after escaping from Deputy Sheriffs here.

The man killed was identified as Harry Marks of Chicago and the man seriously wounded as Henry Williams of Chicago.

The flight terminated a spectacular flight across the Mississippi River into Illinois after three confederates of Fairfield and Sawyer covered Deputy Sheriffs with shotguns and permitted the two payroll robbers to escape, then followed in another automobile.

How Two Men Were Freed.

Fairfield and Sawyer had just been sentenced to serve terms of from one to 25 years in the State prison for a $20,000 payroll robbery here and were being returned to jail, when the deputies were confronted by the three confederates of the pair.

The prisoners, as if by careful prearrangement, walked calmly to an automobile at the curb and drove away. Then, as their rescuers released the deputies and ran for their own automobile, the officers fired upon them, and one is believed to have been wounded.

The party was well into Illinois before the chase was organized.

Responding to telephone calls, officers in all surrounding counties organized posses and had the fugitives hemmed in less than two hours after the escape.

In the posse were Ray Hartman, M. L. Spearman, John Kirch, Harry Schreiner, Chadwick banker; C. L. Klingery, also a banker, and W. J. Schreiner.

Upon receiving warning of the approach of the robbers the posse, heavily armed, started westward to intercept the machines. About two and a half miles west of Chadwick the fleeing car was seen approaching from the west.

Posse Blocks Road.

The posse blocked the road and one member of the gang jumped out of the machine and opened fire. The posse returned the fire and the man fell dead. The others in the machine jumped out and also started shooting and were greeted with a return fire and another fell wounded. The three others surrendered. Fairfield suffered a slight wound in the side.

In the midst of the shooting a car filled with another pursuing party arrived.

Sheriff Cooke of Clinton took charge of the prisoners and returned them to Clinton.

The Carroll County Coroner took charge of the body of the slain man. Medical aid was given the wounded man but his death was expected. The Sheriff reported.

OPERA DURING OPERATIONS

Singing Surgeon Says Music Helps Relieve Patients.

By the Associated Press. STOCKHOLM, Feb. 9.—Stockholm's famous singing surgeon, Dr. Samuel Hyblinette, head of the city's Sastre Hospital, is receiving thousands of congratulatory messages on the occasion of his fiftieth birthday.

Dr. Hyblinette possesses a beautiful tenor voice, he sings operatic arias while visiting patients in the hospital, while they are being prepared for operations, and even while he is wielding the scalpel. He believes his songs help in the patients' recovery. That this belief is shared by many of his patients is evidenced by the flood of congratulatory messages he has received.

CATHOLIC CHURCH AGAINST DRY LAW, SAYS CARDINAL

O'Connell of Boston Declares Compulsory Prohibition Is Contrary to Scriptures and Tradition.

APPROVES VOLUNTARY TOTAL ABSTINENCE

Asserts Prohibitionists' Ruse to Trap Pope Failed—Misrepresentation Their "Year-Round Practice."

By the Associated Press. BOSTON, Feb. 9.—Cardinal O'Connell, in a public statement, says that compulsory prohibition is "flatly opposed to holy scripture and Catholic tradition."

It is his first official pronouncement regarding prohibition. The position of the Catholic Church was outlined in the statement as "opposed to compulsory prohibition, although supporting voluntary total abstinence. To define the Catholic standpoint, he adopted a statement in the London Tablet of Jan. 23, entitled "Catholics and Prohibitionists."

"Christianism," he said, "is a religion of peace and love, and the Church is the servant of the world. It is the duty of the Church to teach the people to live in peace and love, and to abstain from all that is evil. The Church is not in favor of compulsory prohibition, but it is in favor of voluntary total abstinence."

He said, "I tell you that Rome is the servant of the world, and the Church is the servant of the world. It is the duty of the Church to teach the people to live in peace and love, and to abstain from all that is evil. The Church is not in favor of compulsory prohibition, but it is in favor of voluntary total abstinence."

Quotes St. Paul.

"Not that the church needs persuading to fight against intemperance. From the days when St. Paul warned the Ephesians not to be drunk with wine, the church's pastors have dealt faithfully with this ugly vice—but here is the real principle—abstinence is not a ruse to trap the pope. The Church is not in favor of compulsory prohibition, but it is in favor of voluntary total abstinence."

He said, "I tell you that Rome is the servant of the world, and the Church is the servant of the world. ANTI-WORLD COURT GROUP IN SENATE HOLDS CONFERENCE Called Together by Borah, They Discuss Plans to Get U. S. Out of Tribunal.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Senators who voted against American entry into the World Court held a conference late today to lay preliminary plans for the campaign they are to conduct to get this country out of that tribunal.

The conference was called by Chairman Borah of the Foreign Relations Committee, who in an address at Chicago, on Washington's birthday, will speak against the court to the greatest audience he ever has addressed. His speech will be broadcast by radio over the entire country.

Senators attending the conference besides Senator Borah, were Reed and Williams, Missouri; Blaine, South Carolina; La Follette, Wisconsin; Brookhart, Iowa; Howell, Nebraska; Fernald, Maine; Moses, New Hampshire; Nye and Frazier, North Dakota; Schall and Shipstead, Minnesota; Johnson, California; Hareld, Oklahoma, and Robinson, Indiana.

MOVIE PRODUCER LOST $250,000 ON MISS LA MARR

Films of Last Picture in Which She Was Starred to Be Filled Away.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Feb. 9.—Barbara La Marr's death created one group of "dollars and cents mourners." The passing of the actress, it is declared, caused the financial backers of the final picture in which she was starred to lose nearly $250,000.

Painful experience has demonstrated that the movie-going public will not look at the pictures of a dead star. So the reels of celluloid upon which the shadowy smiles and sorrows of Barbara La Marr were recorded are to be packed and filed away on the shelves of a studio warehouse until they may be exhibited some day, but more likely not.

REPORT ON JUDGE ENGLISH TO BE GIVEN HOUSE FEB. 25

Judiciary Committee, Considering Charges Against Jurist, Sets Date for Report.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—The House Judiciary Committee today set Feb. 25 for final recommendations in the case of Federal Judge George W. English of the Eastern Illinois district, charged with "high crimes and misdemeanors" in office.

The vote on the resolution to impeach Judge English was taken today. The resolution was passed by a vote of 219 to 191.

NEW FLOODS COVER ENGLAND

Incessant Rains for 22 Days Halt Traffic in Many Towns.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—A large part of England again is under water. The floods in some portions of the country exceed those of January of the last 22 days there has been only one day without rain. The last two weeks have been exceptionally wet.

Virtually every river in the midland and southern districts has overflowed its banks. Many thousands of acres of low-lying ground and parts of several towns are flooded, stopping street car traffic. The weather indications continue to be for rain.

COOLIDGE TO HOLD SENATE REQUEST FOR COAL PARLEY

President's Attitude Is That Anything He Might Do Would Make Anthracite Situation Worse.

COPELAND GETS MOTION THROUGH

Old Guard Republicans Fall in Line in Vote in Favor of Conference Looking to Settlement.

Post-Dispatch Bureau.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Driven into a corner by the persistent onslaughts of Senator Copeland (Dem.) of New York, Old Guard Republican Senators surrendered today in sufficient numbers to bring about the passage of the Copeland resolution requesting the President to call a conference of anthracite miners and operators at the White House, with a view to settling the coal strike. The vote for the resolution was 54 to 21. Only two Democrats—King of Utah and Glass of Virginia—voted against it.

Soon after adoption of the resolution, the word came from the White House, via the President's "official spokesman," that while the President would give the resolution consideration, he felt that executive interference in the coal situation might make matters worse instead of better.

Continues "Hands Off" Policy.

The Senate's action, it was said, "does not convince" Mr. Coolidge that there was any change in conditions which would justify a change in his policy.

He does not consider the Senate's advice in any way binding upon the Federal Government, although he regards it as a valuable expression of opinion. He also feels that passage of the coal resolution was more or less necessary in order to save the time of the Senate and permit it to center attention on the pending tax bill.

The President was described at the White House as most anxious to see a termination of the anthracite suspension but unable to see any method by which the Federal Government, if injected into the situation, could lend effective assistance toward a solution.

How Senators Voted.

The Democrats and irregular Republicans in favor of the Copeland resolution were joined by such stalwarts as Butler of Massachusetts, who will be up for re-election next fall in a section which has been clamoring for executive action to end the strike; Bingham of Connecticut, who falls within the same category; Curtis of Kansas, the majority leader; Lenroot of Wisconsin, who faces a fight in the coming Republican primary in that State; Moses of New Hampshire, another who is about to go before the voters; Pepper of Pennsylvania, and Weller of Maryland, both of whom have felt the pressure of the constituents to whom they are appealing for re-election.

Williams (Rep.) of Missouri voted against the resolution. Reed (Dem.) of Missouri was not in the chamber when the vote was taken, though his remarks during the debate indicated antagonism to the proposal. Among the others in opposition were Couzens (Rep.) of Michigan and Birch (Rep.) of Idaho, who denounced the resolution as a "back-passing" maneuver. Wadsworth (Rep.) of New York, though facing an election, declined to join his Northern primary Republican colleagues in their switch to support the resolution.

Just before the resolution came to a vote, Reed of Pennsylvania got Copeland to tone it down slightly, so that as finally passed it requests the President to call a strike-settlement conference "at such a time as he thinks best."

The quoted words were suggested by Reed, accepted by Copeland and placed in the resolution by unanimous consent.

The vote on the amended resolution was also had by unanimous consent, after Reed had said that, although he regarded the measure as a "bread bill," he did not intend to oppose it any longer.

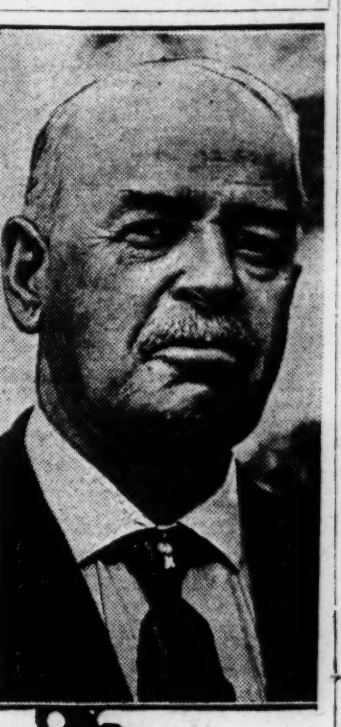

Copeland Tells of Suffering.

Copeland opened the debate by telling of the suffering caused by the strike in New York City and urging the Senate to take some remedial action.

Borah replied that inasmuch as the resolution conferred no power on the President, its adoption would be a futile gesture. The President, he said, could do nothing except exert moral influence, and he thought that the Senate should do the same.

LOSES LAST PLEA

GOV. LEN SMALL.

TO DAYS IN WORKHOUSE AND FINE FOR SPEEDER

Alfie Finochiaro, Grocer, First to Be Penalized Under Rosecan's New Policy.

A ten-day Workhouse sentence and a fine of $37 were imposed by Police Judge Rosecan today on Alfie Finochiaro, a grocer, of 7162 Wise avenue, St. Louis County, charged with driving his Packard roadster 37 miles an hour on Southwest avenue last Tuesday night.

Judge Rosecan announced the penalty was in accord with his new policy of jailing wealthy speeders and fining poor ones. Finochiaro announced he would appeal.

Motor Cycle Policeman Canton testified he followed Finochiaro from Kingshighway to Cooper street. The street was wet and slippery, he testified, and when it flashed his spotlight on the driver, Finochiaro turned suddenly to the left, in front of the motor cycle, and drove up an alley to another street.

Finochiaro denied he was speeding. He was going to his brother's home and the alley was a shortcut, he declared. He was parked at his brother's home when arrested, he added.

A $200 fine for driving an automobile while intoxicated was paid at once by Fred Moll, 52, proprietor of a soft drink establishment at 1901 Shenandoah avenue, who had pleaded guilty.

Court Makes Man Promise Never to Drive Auto in St. Louis.
Pete Bisso, an East St. Louis coal dealer, who lives with his wife and six small children in three rooms, scraped together $40 a few weeks ago and bought a 1917 Ford touring car.

Last night after he had bought gasoline and a few drinks, he was seen zig-zagging the car at Eighteenth street and Chouteau avenue. A policeman arrested him for driving when intoxicated.

"A man in your condition driving such a machine is a menace to the public," Police Judge Rosecan told Bisso today. "A man in your impoverished circumstances should not own a car. The money spent for gasoline, oil and tires rightfully belongs to your family."

Bisso said his main idea in buying the car was to give his crippled wife an outing now and then.

"Sending you to the workhouse would be a hardship on your family," Judge Rosecan resumed. "I'll fine you $250 and stay it, if you will promise not to drive an automobile in St. Louis for the rest of your life and to report weekly to this court during the next year."

$100,000 FOR WILLS-LENGLER MOTION PICTURE RIGHTS

By the Associated Press. CANNES, France, Feb. 9.—The exclusive right to the motion pictures of the coming match between Helen Wills and Suzanne Lenglen for the title of the Carlton tournament has been sold to an American producer for a consideration reported to exceed $100,000. American camera men were informed of this yesterday when they were refused admittance to the match.

"This is a plain business proposition," said Thomas Burke, brother of the professional world champion tennis player, Albert Burke, who is handling the financial affairs of the Carlton Tennis tournament. He said no pictures could be taken without the approval of the concessionaire.

"That's news to me," was Miss Wills' comment.

"I never bother about moving pictures," said Miss Lenglen.

SMALL MUST PAY $1,000,000 AND MAY LOSE GOVERNORSHIP

Supreme Court of Illinois Refuses to Reopen Case and Reaffirms Decision Against Him.

TENURE OF OFFICE ATTACKED BY FOES

Fund Already Being Raised to Relieve Him of Necessity for Personal Accounting.

By the Associated Press. SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 9.—Reaffirming its previous decision, the Supreme Court of Illinois today denied a rehearing and directed Gov. Len Small to account for $1,100,000 interest money alleged to have been withheld by him while State Treasurer in 1917 and 1918.

It was a divided decision. Justices Heard and Duncan repeating with added emphasis their original dissension.

This exhausts the Governor's last alternative. He must give an accounting. It ends another phase of his troubled career as Illinois' chief executive. In 1921 and 1922 he was indicted, tried and acquitted of a criminal charge of conspiracy, based on the same evidence used in the suit for an accounting.

By its majority decision reaffirmed today, the Supreme Court held Gov. Small, the late State Senator E. C. Curtis and V. C. Curtis, withdrew more than $200,000 from the State Treasury, for investments and reinvestments in packers' notes and that not a single cent of the resulting interest money was paid into the treasury.

Fund Being Collected.
Gov. Small and his advisers evidently expected an adverse decision. Their organization has already started to raise a fund by popular subscription to relieve the Governor of a personal accounting, the necessity for which he laid to "political persecution."

SALE OF BAKERIES
ST. LOUIS AIRED
AT TRUST HEARING

W. B. Ward Got Continental Stock in Return for His Contract to Buy American Company.

TRADE COMMISSION
HEARS G. G. BARBER

Witness Describes This Deal in 2,000,000 Shares of Common as Technical Transaction.

DE JANEIRO, Feb. 9.—George W. B. Ward, chairman of the board of the Continental Baking Corp., testified today before the Federal Trade Commission that his company had delivered to William B. Ward the entire 2,000,000 shares of its common stock in return for a contract to buy the American Baking Co. of St. Louis.

Barber promised to furnish a copy of this agreement to the commission. The examination of the Continental corporation's affairs is being conducted by John C. Addison, an federal examiner.

Afterward had received the 2,000,000 shares of common stock in return for the exchange for a certain number of shares of preferred and class "A" and "B" stock. Barber denied that the Continental corporation was organized to take over the Ward Baking Co., described as the Ward Baking Co., after a holding company organized by Ward.

Barber testified that he himself had sold stock in the Continental corporation and that a few other officers of the Continental corporation also held stock in these companies. So far as he knew, the witness said, the Continental corporation was organized to take over the Ward Baking Co., described as the Ward Baking Co., after a holding company organized by Ward.

Barber said the Ward company owned and operated bakeries in Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit, Baltimore, New York, Newark, N. J., Providence, R. I., Cambridge, Mass., and perhaps other cities which he could not recall.

The transfer of the 2,000,000 shares of common stock, the witness said, was a technical transaction to make the shares fully paid and nonassessable.

General Baking Co. Officer Here Denies Complicity.
George N. Meissner, manager of the General Baking Co., whose office and plant are at 1012 North Jefferson avenue, said today that his company, one of the defendants in the Government's injunction suit to prevent a merger in the baking industry, eventually would be down to have no corporate connection, in fact or in prospect, with other defendants.

"The General Baking Co.," he said, "absorbed the McKinney Baking Co. more than 15 years ago, and that merger has always borne the approval of the Government. We operate only this one plant, serving towns in Missouri and Illinois. The other companies control a great number of plants."

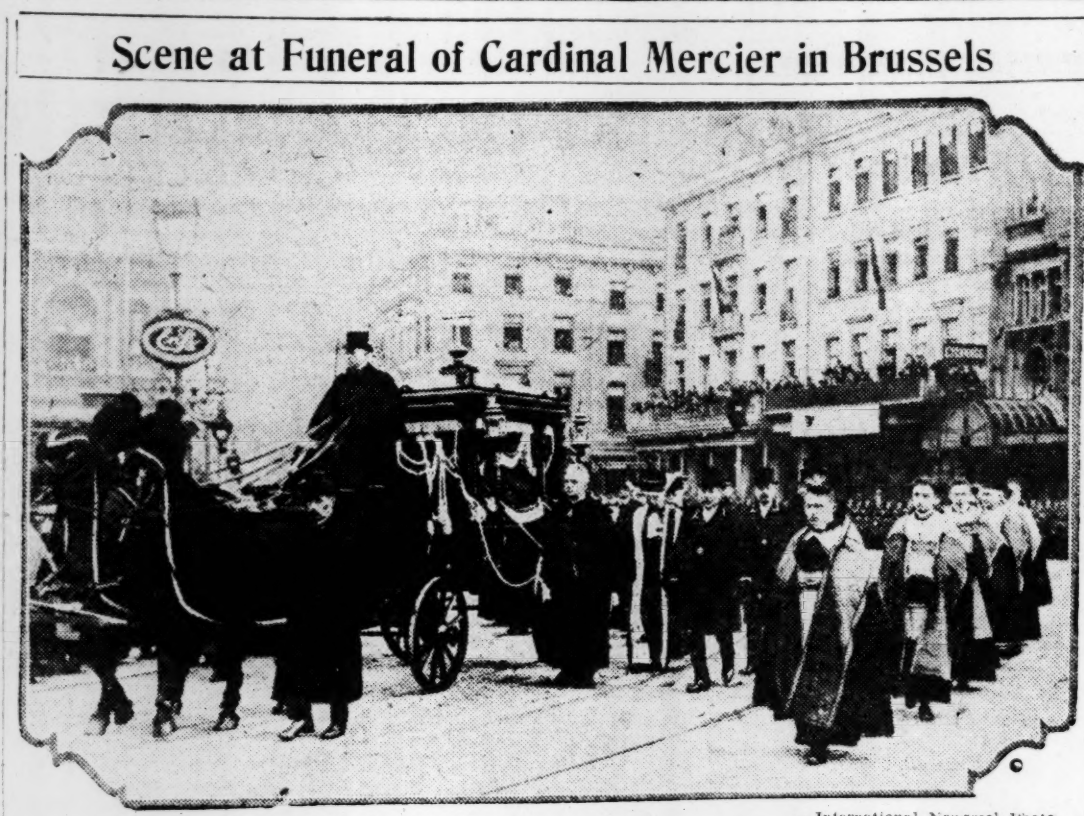

The General Baking-McKinney merger, however, as was told yesterday, was cited in the Government's petition as one of the examples of suppressed competition.

The General Baking Co. said the petition said served 25 towns in Missouri and 20 towns in Illinois. This was presumably through the McKinney Bread Co., which the General Baking Co. controlled. It was the contention of the Government that in the past there had been competition.

Another example cited was that the American Baking Co. of St. Louis, whose five bakeries were absorbed in 1924 by the Continental Baking Corporation, and one of the defendants. These bakeries are the Wells-Bottling, Hauck-Hoerr, Home and Grund. The Nafziger Baking Co., 201 Cook avenue, is a unit of the Continental Baking Co., which operates bakeries in Missouri, Kansas and Alabama and is not a defendant in the suit. All other St. Louis bakeries, it is said, are independent.

Tough Test for Drunkenness.
DUBLIN, Jan. 12.—In a Derry case, in which a motorist was charged with reckless driving while drunk, the police doctor explained the magistrate's tests for drunkenness. He made the defendant try to walk a straight line and asked him to recite "arsenic and strychnine" and "the rugged rocks the rugged rasical ran." The magistrate thought this test too severe and doubted whether they could stand it themselves.

Robbery in Chicago Home.
CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—Six masked men invaded the home of H. H. Archibald, wealthy realty dealer, intimidated a butler and two women servants, ransacked the entire house and escaped with $10,000. Archibald is said to be in Florida. His wife, who has been fortunate by running a group of candy shops, was shopping at the time of the robbery.

BROKER ACCUSED OF SHORTAGE OF $100,000

Charges in New Orleans Against A. G. Miller of St. Louis Called Unfounded.

A million-dollar cash deal closed last month by Arthur G. Miller of 3215 Hawthorne boulevard, an investment broker with offices in the Arcade Building, had an unexpected sequel yesterday when affidavits charging Miller with embezzlement of $100,000 were filed at New Orleans.

The charges are "absolutely unfounded," Harry C. Barker, attorney for Miller, stated today. Barker will oppose efforts to take Miller to New Orleans and will appear before Gov. Barker when the question of extradition is argued.

The affidavits were filed by Miller's associate in public utilities, Samuel R. Morgan of Little Rock, president of S. R. Morgan & Co., investment bankers. They charge that Miller took $75,000 from the Morgan bank and used it to purchase stock in the Continental Baking Co. on Dec. 31, 1925, and $25,000 from the Oakdale (La.) Ice and Light Co. about the same date. Miller was secretary-treasurer of both companies.

Miller Out of City.
Miller, who is about 40 years old, resides at 140 Hawthorne boulevard address with his wife and four children. He left yesterday to visit a farm he owns near St. Louis and is expected back today, his attorney said.

"Morgan has no grounds for complaint against Miller and made no complaint prior to the filing of the affidavits," Attorney Barker said.

"Miller was manager of the Republic Power and Service Co., which, I understand, was holding company for the Louisiana public utilities. A few weeks ago he succeeded in selling these utilities to the Louisiana Public Utilities Co., Inc., for $1,094,400 cash. His commission was to be $25,000."

Lawyer Tells of Deal.
"On Jan. 22, 1926, Miller and Morgan made a complete settlement of their affairs. Miller had $63,500 of the company's money. On the other hand, there was due him the $25,000 commission and $48,500 for his 3000 shares of stock in the company. Morgan was taking up all the stock. Miller's indebtedness was $73,500 due him from the $162,500 due the company, which was Morgan. He gave Morgan checks for the difference, $90,000, and Morgan cashed the checks. The settlement was satisfactory to Morgan and he made no complaint."

"Miller was to receive another commission when Morgan had bought up all the stock. Morgan was planning to sue for a re-ownership in Miller's behalf."

Broker's Office Here Ransacked.
"Last Wednesday, while Miller and myself were out of town, Morgan and a lawyer got a writ of replevin and ransacked Miller's office in the Arcade Building. They took the office furniture and papers from the desk. I went to the train before Morgan left and recovered a deed of trust."

Miller resided at Blue Mound, Mo., and Little Rock before coming to St. Louis.

Women Trampled in Strike Row.
By the Associated Press.
CARTIERS, N. J., Feb. 9.—Several women were trampled upon in the first clash of the three weeks strike of 7200 woolen mill employees in the Passaic district today on the Ackerman avenue bridge joining Clifton and Garfield. Twenty-five Clifton policemen, with night sticks, repulsed an estimated 500 men and women and prevented their parading through that city.

Would Print Cabinet 'Minutes.'
WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—A proposal to print the "minutes" of Cabinet meetings, which the Congressional Record was introduced today by Representative Black (Dem.) of New York. He said Congress would be greatly helped if it could read what was said around the Cabinet table.

SMALL MUST PAY $1,000,000; MAY LOSE GOVERNORSHIP

vestments and reinvestments amounted to more than $50,000,000 during Small's term."

Further, the court holds that $525,000 drawn from the Treasury was used to buy securities other than packers' notes and that most of these securities "were bought in substance in its opinion that the principal from the Treasury thus converted to Small's personal use was replaced by discounts from the packers' notes."

"Further, the majority opinion holds that the law requires all payments of interest to be paid directly to the Treasury, and that it is unlawful for the Treasurer as an individual to receive them; that Small diverted interest and held it 21 months and then reported $204,424.33; that 16 months after Small left the Treasurer's office he had paid over another $143,583."

What He Is Held to Owe.
Summarizing, it is the finding of the court majority that on Small's own testimony, he owes the State, under the law, about a million dollars of interest money collected through the Grant Park Bank, and in addition to this is liable for interest on the amount at 5 per cent per annum since he should have accounted for it in 1919, which will add to the million about $350,000.

The prosecution has set up in the records that the Constitution provides (Section 1, Article 5) that all books and papers of the State Treasurers shall be kept at Springfield. It is contended that Small kept all interest accounts regarding $300,000,000 loaned to packers and $3,000,000 loaned to Russell's bank in his private safe at Kan-kakee.

The only question left for the master of accounting is to determine the exact amount collected by Small from the banks and from the packers, and the exact amount paid into the Treasury. The court holds him liable for the difference.

Small, in Statement, Says He Owes State Nothing.
By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—Gov. Len Small's attorneys in Chicago today gave out a statement from the Governor in which he said:

"As I understand the decision, it affirms the decree of the Circuit Court of Sangamon County, which has the effect of holding me personally liable for sums of money which may have been made as profits by the bank in which funds were deposited, even though none of such profits came to me. I have heretofore assured the people of this State and I now repeat that I have already accounted for and paid over into the State treasury every dollar of interest received by me during my term as State Treasurer."

"Neither this decision nor the decree of the Sangamon County Court has determined what, if any, specific sum shall be paid by me, but that sum, if there is any, will be determined by subsequent hearings before the Master in Chancery."

"The decision is far-reaching in importance in that it affects the deposits of public funds by every custodian of public money in state, county, city, village and school district, and may often be applied to penalize a public treasurer for his attempt to safely preserve the public money."

"Regardless of the results to me, I assure the people that as long as I have an ounce of strength in my body, I shall continue as I have done in the past to fight for the rights and to conduct the administration of the State's affairs for the benefit of the people."

Woman Preacher Weds Evangelist.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
MEXICO, Mo., Feb. 9.—Miss Ruth E. Wilkinson, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene here, and Arthur K. Jones, an evangelist of the denomination, were married yesterday. Mrs. Jones, who is 29 years old, is one of the few women preachers in Missouri. She has been doing evangelistic work for five years, having preached her first sermons when 15. With her husband, who is now conducting a "protracted meeting" at Hurdland, Mo., Mrs. Jones departed after the ceremony for Hurdland.

BOY, 4, KILLED WHEN STRUCK BY AUTO TRUCK

William Gossett Jr. on Errand to Store for Mother at Time of Fatality.

William Gossett Jr., 4 years old, of 3737 Evans avenue, was struck and killed by a motor truck today.

He had gone at noon to a grocery store at Easton and Prairie avenues to make a purchase for his mother. With the package under his arm, he was crossing Prairie at Easton, when a 12-ton truck of the Kruger Grocery and Baking Co. ran him down. He died of skull fracture and internal injuries.

Wilfred Goetz, 32, of 4125A St. Louis avenue, the truck driver, was arrested. He said the boy ran in front of the truck.

The boy's death brought the total of automobile fatalities this year to 24, as compared with 19 for a similar period last year.

INQUEST FIXES NO BLAME FOR KILLING OF BOY BY AUTO

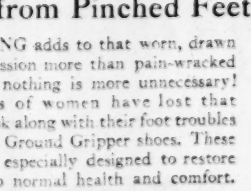

A coroner's verdict of accident was returned today in the case of Herbert L. Payne, 15 years old, who was fatally injured at Eighteenth and Chouteau avenue yesterday noon by an automobile driven by Herbert C. Kiesling, a mechanic of Sappington. He suffered a skull fracture and other injuries, dying at the City Hospital within half an hour.

The boy had just had a sandwich at a restaurant at the northeast corner of Eighteenth and Chouteau, and, going out a side door, started to run across Eighteenth to a drug store at the northwest corner, where he was an errand boy. He dodged in front of a moving coal truck and went directly in the path of Kiesling's car, which was going north at about 15 miles an hour.

Herbert was a son of Mrs. Louise Payne, widow, of 5438A Southwest avenue, and helped support her. He attended night school. The funeral will be held tomorrow from the home.

Negro Boy, 12, Held for Homicide.
A coroner's jury today held Neal Powell, a Negro, 12 years old, for homicide at the inquest in the case of Edward Akers, 14, 2737 Division street, also a Negro, who was shot and killed yesterday in a quarrel over the possession of a cigarette butt.

SENATE REJECTS NORRIS PLAN FOR INCOME PUBLICITY

After Defeating Tax Bill Amendments, Senate Votes by Acclamation to Repeal Present Clause.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Repeal of the law allowing publication of the amounts of income tax payments is assured, the Senate having approved this provision, written into the tax reduction by the House.

Before accepting by acclamation the repeal provision, the Senate rejected 49 to 32, an amendment by Senator Norris (Rep.) of Nebraska, to make all income tax returns subject to public inspection.

This action, taken last night, disposed of one of the principal points of controversy in the revenue bill.

Both advocates and opponents of the full publicity provision denounced the present law allowing publication of the amounts of income tax payments and no attempt was made to amend the bill to provide for its continuance.

Despite the decision on publicity, the Senate still faces more than 50 amendments to the tax reduction bill, including the proposal of many Senators to continue the inheritance and gift taxes.

Opponents of the repeal of the inheritance tax, comprising about the same group who fought for publicity of returns, have promised a "long fight" and managers of the bill are prepared to continue the program of long day and night sessions. Tomorrow had been set as the deadline for passage of the bill, but reduction is to be assured by March 15, when the first income installments are due.

Congressional Inspection.
The bill, as it now stands, provides that tax returns shall be open to investigation by special congressional committees and also provides for the appointment of a joint congressional committee to keep in touch with the administration of the internal revenue bureau at all times. The latter committee would have power to inspect all returns.

Proposing full publicity of tax returns as a safeguard against "fraud and corruption" in the internal revenue bureau, Senator Norris led the fight for adoption of his amendment in a speech which took up more than half of an eleven hour session. He declared it was not the intent of the Senate in voting for publicity two years ago to make it mandatory that just the amount of tax paid should be published.

Objection to Publicity.
"Your proposal is 10 times worse," Senator Reed (Rep.) of Pennsylvania declared. "It will allow not only publication of the amounts of tax paid, but all the intimate details of a taxpayer's business, which must necessarily be placed in the return."

Senator Couzens, replied that newspapers would not go to the trouble of printing all of this information or even of obtaining the amounts of income tax paid if the law did not require the internal revenue collectors to publish these lists as at present.

C. M. DOLPH ESTATE IS $1,641,732; MOSTLY REALTY

Complete Inventory of Late Druggist's Fortune Discloses Large Property Investments.

By the Associated Press.
Clifford M. Dolph, who 40 years ago made a small investment in a drug business started by the late Charles R. Judge at Fourth and Market streets, amassed a fortune, which at the time of his death Oct. 1, last, totaled $1,641,732. The amount of his estate was disclosed in an inventory filed in Probate Court today by the executor, the National Bank of Commerce. The bulk of the fortune goes to charity and education.

Included is real estate valued at $1,045,125, chiefly in St. Louis. Outstanding is the seven-story Dolph Building, at the northeast corner of Seventh and Locust streets, inventoried at $445,300. Dolph owned the building and 21 feet of the lot fronting Locust street on the east side, but 44 feet of the lot at the corner is leased.

Mr. Dolph also owned the adjacent $100,000, four-story building at 615 Locust street and its 22-foot lot. This and the Dolph Building are under a 30-year lease to the May Department Stores Co., operating Famous-Barr department store, having 23 years to run.

Profited by Florida Boom.
Other St. Louis holdings are shown in the inventory as follows: Four-floor store building at 1121-23 Locust street, $175,000; building at 1012 North Grand boulevard, $40,000; used for secondhand clothing sales, $60,000; northwest corner of Fifteenth and Olive streets, $40,000; 1600 Olive street, $55,000; 3526 Olive street, $10,000; 1416 Morgan street, $22,500; 1513 Vall place, $6000; 3383 Windsor place, $3500.

Last spring, when the Florida land boom was getting under way, Mr. Dolph bought several lots in the vicinity of Palm Beach. These are listed in the inventory at $127,225, but the executors have sold the lots at this figure, thereby more than doubling the original investment. Listed also is a quartz mining claim in Grant County, Ore., of undetermined value.

Personal property is valued at $596,607, including $74,020 in stocks, $489,718 in bonds, mostly municipals; $19,801 cash, $4413 chattels, $2341 accounts and $6313 notes. Included among the stocks are: St. Louis Towel Supply Co., $22,400; Stafford-Miller Co., a Maine corporation, $22,650; Cystogen Chemical Co., $8515, and McKelvey Construction Co. $1500.

Institutions Share Alike.
Mr. Dolph, who was single and died at the age of 67, bequeathed his sister, Miss Frances C. Dolph with whom he resided at 5829 Cates avenue, an annuity of $5000 and made other specific bequests amounting to $9000. The residue he willed in equal shares to the Seamen's Church Institute, New York; Park College, Parkville, Mo.; the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. of Cincinnati, and Bethesda Home, 2619 Vista avenue, for care of incurables. The share of each of these institutions will be more than $300,000.

Mr. Dolph came to St. Louis 47 years ago from Cincinnati and engaged in the drug business.

HONORS OF GREATER VALUE UNDER NEW BRIDGE RULES

Revision Eliminates Suit in Scoring Them and Sets New Table of Points.
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—A revision of the rules of auction bridge toward simplified scoring was announced today, following a conference of experts last Saturday. Milton C. Works, chairman of the committee on rules of the Whist Club of New York, and representative of the American Whist League, the Knickerbocker Whist Club and the New York Bridge Whist Club, attended the conference.

The scoring of honors was changed to give all honors, regardless of suits, an equal value. No change was made in honors at no trump. The following was adopted:

"Honors are scored in the honor score of the side to which they are dealt. All honors held by each side are scored according to the following table:

"None in one hand, 3 in the other, count 30 points; 1 in one hand, 2 in the other, 30; 1 in one hand, 3 in the other, 40; 2 in one hand, 3 in the other, 40; none in one hand, 4 in the other, 80; 1 in one hand, 4 in the other, 80; none in one hand, 5 in the other, 100."

BODIES OF TWO WHO DIED IN BLIZZARD DEC. 13 FOUND

By the Associated Press.
SCOTTS BLUFF, Neb., Feb. 9.—The bodies of J. E. Shea, Alliance, Neb., traveling salesman, and Miss Hazel Dunbar of Mitchell, Neb., who are thought to have met death in the severe snowstorm here Dec. 13, were found yesterday near the spot where their stalled automobile was discovered by searchers after the blizzard. They had taken refuge in a ravine and the 15 feet of snow which covered them had not melted until yesterday.

Many men spent days combing the countryside for trace of them.

gaged with his father in starting the Excelsior Laundry, which for years occupied the building at 1012 North Grand boulevard held in the estate. His small investment, in Mr. Judge's drug store enterprise in 1885 saved that business from credit tribulations. Mr. Judge was the active partner and insisted on old-fashioned adherence to a plain pharmacy business, without modern side lines. After his death in 1918, Mr. Dolph started an aggressive expansion policy.

The store had been moved to the Dolph Building, and eventually two other downtown stores and one on De Baliviere avenue and one in Wellston were added. Last summer, the Walgreen Drug Co., operating a chain of drug stores in Chicago and Milwaukee, bought the Judge & Dolph chain here from Mr. Dolph for $363,000.

ANTI-EVOLUTION BILL PASSED BY MISSISSIPPI HOUSE

Measure Carries by Vote of 76 to 32 After Three-Hour Debate — Number of Amendments Proposed

By the Associated Press.
JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 9.—The Mississippi House of Representatives has passed, by a vote of 76 to 32, a bill to prevent teaching of the theory that man descended from a lower order of animals in state supported schools.

Members of the Senate, who have yet to vote on the measure, listened to the heated debate which preceded the vote in the House.

In addition to prohibiting the teaching of the theory of evolution, this measure makes it unlawful for any teacher, text book commissioner or other authority empowered to select books, to choose those that teach a doctrine that man descended or descended from a lower order of animals. The penalty for violation is a cancellation of contract.

The bill will not go to the Senate pending action by the House on a motion to reconsider, expected to be taken soon.

LINDENWOOD COLLEGE GIRL GETS MARRIAGE ANNULLED

Mary Folsom White, 18 years old, daughter of E. M. Folsom, 7478 Washington avenue, was granted an annulment of her marriage to William C. White by Circuit Judge Wurdemann at Clayton yesterday. White was represented by counsel, but did not appear himself.

According to Miss Folsom, she was a student at Lindenwood college, and was spending a few days at home, last October, when White, whose home she said was in Indiana, called and took her for an automobile ride. They went to Belleville, she said, and obtained a license to wed. They were married by a Justice of the Peace there.

White, she alleged, took her to Belleville because of the 21-year age requirement in Missouri. She said they had lived apart since Oct. 17, the day of the wedding, and that she had not realized the seriousness of marriage.

EMBEZZLED $150,000 TO PAY BLACKMAILERS

Officer of Goodyear Co. in California Admits He Was in Baltimore Scandal.

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 9.—William F. Downs, treasurer of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. of California, in whose accounts an alleged shortage of $150,000 was discovered a week ago, was arrested on an embezzlement charge here yesterday and was removed from his home, where he has been seriously ill following a nervous breakdown to the prison ward of the General Hospital.

Officers of the tire company said that Downs, just prior to his arrest, admitted to them that he took the money, but said he had used virtually all of it to pay blackmailers who threatened to expose his past.

The prisoner was said to have explained that he was the same William F. Downs, a former Assistant Comptroller of the city of Baltimore, Md., who was charged in 1909 with having embezzled $67,128 of the municipality's funds. His arrest at that time caused a political sensation. He was tried five times and finally acquitted.

The blackmailers, Downs was quoted as having said, were members of the Baltimore underworld. Their threats were said to have been made since Downs reached a position of prominence with the tire company. Downs' bail was set at $25,000. The charge against him contained three counts.

Trial in 1909 as Baltimore City Employee Created Scandal.

By the Associated Press.
BALTIMORE, Md., Feb. 9.—A municipal scandal was caused by the embezzlement charges brought here in 1909 against William F. Downs, at that time clerk in the City Register's office.

Hints of political influence expected to save him, and that he was made the "goat" for politicians, lent color to his five trials, the last of which finally resulted in his acquittal after sensational testimony involving many city officials had been given. He was specifically charged with stealing $67,128 through misappropriation of checks and manipulation of city banking entries.

ROOSEVELT SETTLED QUARREL WITH FORAKER

Letters of Each Show They Composed Row Over the Brownsville Riot.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—The long obscured question of whether the late President Roosevelt and the late Senator Foraker of Ohio ever composed their celebrated quarrel seems to be definitely settled in the affirmative through private circulation of a print of correspondence between them.

The quarrel, which was a sensational one, broke in 1909 as a direct outcome of Senator Foraker's championship of the cause of some of the Negro regular troops who were summarily dismissed from the army by President Roosevelt after the affair at Brownsville, Tex.

The Brownsville riot, as it was then called, involved Negro troops of the regular army. It assumed the proportions of a nation-wide controversy when President Roosevelt dismissed a whole battalion.

Senator Foraker, one of the stalwart Republican leaders of his day and one of the circle of confidants which surrounded President McKinley, occupied a position apparently equally intimate with President Roosevelt until the two men differed over the merits of the President's wholesale dismissal of at least some of the Negro troops.

Senator Foraker assailed President Roosevelt's course openly in the Senate and the President had struck back in characteristic fashion. The smoldering volcano did not come into full eruption, however, until an occasion in January 1909, when both men were guests at a Gridiron Club dinner in Washington.

The Gridiron Club is composed of Washington correspondents who at their dinners, "grill" public men and affairs good naturedly, always to the amusement and respect of the latter. Its first rule is that "reporters never present." Everything said and done is "under the rose" and public men on those occasions, relieved of the prospect of public eyes and ears, throw off their restraints and speak their minds.

Tilt Got in Print.
The Roosevelt-Foraker tilt supplied the second instance of which there is record in which what was said in confidence at a Gridiron Club dinner got into print.

President Roosevelt for 30 minutes delivered characteristic shafts at Senator Foraker, and although the President on such occasions is supposed to be the last speaker, the toastmaster of the evening immediately called on Senator Foraker to reply. The Senator did for 20 minutes, while 300 spectators held their breaths for what was described as a battle between gladiators.

Neither spared words or personalities and the report of the proceedings say that when President Roosevelt attempted to reply in rebuttal to Senator Foraker he was almost drowned out by the hum of conversation among the excited diners.

Friendship Suspended as Result.
As a result of that occasion friendship between the two men was suspended. Their hostility became so much talked about in the news of the day that it furnished the material for cartoons, quips and even stage jokes.

So far as anyone knows, it remained thus until 1912, when, a few months before Col. Roosevelt's nomination at the Chicago Progressive convention, he wrote Senator Foraker complimenting him on his pamphlet on the authorship of the Sherman antitrust law and at its conclusion inviting Senator Foraker to call. The Senator, apparently wiping out old scores, wrote a friendly reply, but declined the Colonel's invitation, because, he wrote: "I have some fear that knowledge of such a call, if it should get to the newspapers, might be exploited in such a way as to cause embarrassment to both of us. Some other time when circumstances are more propitious I shall drop in for a few minutes in memory of old times."

SAYS TEA-DRINKING AND SILK STOCKINGS CAUSE IRISH ILLS

Surgeon in Belfast Advises Getting Back to Dairies of "Strabout and Buttermilk" to Restore Health. BELFAST, Feb. 9.—Tea-drinking is ruining people, and silk stockings are to blame for some present day illnesses, Dr. Dennis O'Hagen, surgeon of Louth County Infirmary, told a committee called to discuss the treatment of tuberculosis. "What is required," he said, "is a health campaign to get people to feed themselves properly. I advise people to drink less tea and to get back to the days of 'strabout' and 'buttermilk.' There would be less tuberculosis if people took this advice." Strabout is a porridge of oatmeal or corn meal boiled in water and stirred.

Why You Should Buy Mohair Covering

Mohair-velvet is extremely durable—it does not grow faded and shabby as do Jacquard and other cotton velours. Its deep pile is not injured by water, grease or dust. It is easily cleaned—a brushing is usually sufficient. It will wear a lifetime and is fully guaranteed.

Extended Payments

We will allow you to pay as little as $33 cash on this $133 Suite, balance of $100 in ten equal payments—$10 each month. Or, two per cent discount for all cash.

LONDON RADIO CRITIC RAKES 'STUDENT PRINCE' OF SHUBERTS
No Welcome in Britain for 'Vulgar Trash,' Says James Agate

LONDON, Feb. 9.—The Shuberts' first venture in London, "The Student Prince," was attacked in the strongest terms on the monopoly radio by James Agate, dramatic editor of the Sunday Times, last night. The British Broadcasting Co. is the only commercial broadcaster in the British Isles. The government does not permit political news to be put on the air, but a verbal attack on a private theatrical venture raises a new point, which is to be the subject of an inquiry by Parliament. Agate said the Shuberts would be welcomed in England if their coming meant the production of American plays by Eugene O'Neill, Susan Glaspell, Stark Young and other such authors, but "vulgar trash" like "The Student Prince," he said, would never succeed with the British theater-going public. He attacked the production in detail and denounced the Shuberts for raising the price for the pit at His Majesty's Theater from 5s. to 6s. to double the amount.

ALMA RUBENS REWEDS CORTEZ
Second Ceremony Wins Blessing of District Attorney

RIVERSIDE, Cal., Feb. 8.—Alma Rubens and Ricardo Cortez, film stars, whose marriage here recently provoked the wrath of the District Attorney because the ceremony was performed before the actress had obtained a final decree of divorce from a former husband, were married again yesterday. Between the two ceremonies the actress divorce had been made absolute. The District Attorney was among those to extend the couple his blessing. He said he was convinced they had not intended to violate the law.

SWINDLER'S WIFE GUILTY
Given Five-Year Term in Case of Former Hannibal (Mo.) Butcher.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Feb. 8.—It required a jury only five minutes to reach a verdict of guilty yesterday in the trial of Mrs. Hannibal Holt, charged with grand larceny and receiving stolen money. She was sentenced to five years in the State penitentiary, the maximum punishment. Mrs. Holt is the wife of Bob Holt, confidence man, convicted two weeks ago of grand larceny in connection with the swindling of Pete Sirbu, a former Hannibal (Mo.) butcher, of $80,000. Mrs. Holt came into court wearing an expensive fur coat. Sirbu had an attachment issued for that garment, and when she walked to the jail, she was attired only in her plain blue serge dress. Mrs. Holt also was tried for the Sirbu swindle.

PLEA TO JUDGE WOMEN BY MODERN STANDARDS

Attorney for Mrs. T. H. Symington of New York Cites Arlen's Novel in Brief.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—The modern woman must be judged by modern standards, and conduct which would have stamped her mother as a social outcast a few years ago is now accepted by society as "perfectly permissible."

That, in effect, was the argument Max D. Steuer incorporated in a brief filed yesterday with the Appellate division of the Supreme Court in opposition to the appeal of Thomas H. Symington, manufacturer of railroad equipment, from the verdict of a jury which,
at the direction of Supreme Court Justice Ford last summer found Mrs. Symington innocent of numerous charges of misconduct alleged by her husband in his suit for divorce.

Steuer cited that cocktail parties were given almost daily in the social circles in which the Sym-ingtons moved; that petting parties were taboo no longer, and that daringly short skirts were the order of the day.

Symington originally charged his wife with 19 separate acts of misconduct with Maurice Fatio, an architect, and Talbot W. Chambers, coal merchant. His attorney withdrew nine specifications as admittedly unproved.

Told of Own Conduct.
At the trial Chambers testified of his own conduct with Mrs.
Symington and Steuer had him arrested on his own admission, and then offset the admission with the denial of Mrs. Symington.

Justice Ford, in directing the jury to exonerate Mrs. Symington, said: "Any man who can do what Chambers did is such a low contemptible creature he isn't worthy of belief." Subsequently the criminal charges against Chambers were dropped by District Attorney Banton and the Justices of the Special Sessions.

Fatio was not a witness, and the intimation of misconduct by him and Mrs. Symington, contained in testimony of former servants, was offset by the testimony of Mrs.
Symington's 13-year-old daughter by a former marriage, that she was always present.

"Today society recognizes and respects the rights of both married and single women to enjoy and exercise far more latitude and freedom of action in their conduct than in former days," Steuer said.
"That which not so long ago would stamp a woman as a courtesan, or cause society to treat her as a social outcast, is now widely accepted as entirely conventional, perfectly permissible and not at all improper or a violation of marital duties or obligations."

Daily Cocktail Parties.
"Cocktail parties, not only before, but probably even more often since the advent of prohibition, are given almost daily in social circles like those in which both plaintiff and defendant moved. So-called 'petting parties' are no longer a cause for social ostracism."

The "new freedom" of American women, the prevalence of the "lounge lizard" as the consort and entertainer of wives of tired business men, Steuer declared, have changed the legal standards of measuring conduct in divorce cases.

"The evidence undoubtedly tends to show," he stated, "that defendant associated with Fatio and Chambers without her husband, attended restaurants and theaters with them, received them in her home, either alone or generally when others were present and followed the present day mode of life such as is depicted by Michael Arlen in his well-known novel, 'These Charming People,' now dramatized and playing."

"That the evidence is insufficient to establish misconduct or to reknow this simple thing to do!

At any hour or moment that you have the bleeding and badly protruding piles respond at once to the soothing suppository applied in per-

$100 FOR EXPOSITION NAME

Prize Offered by C. of C. for Independence Celebration Next Fall.

The St. Louis Chamber of Commerce yesterday announced an offer of a $100 prize for a name to designate a celebration and exposition, to be held by it next fall, in commemoration of the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. Answers should be mailed to the Contest Committee of the Chamber of Commerce before midnight of next Tuesday. Announcement of the winner will be made as soon after as possible.

Mayor Miller, Vice President Baxter L. Brown of the Chamber of Commerce, Superintendent of Education John J. Maddox and Arthur E. Postwick of the Public Library will act as judges.

Two thousand booths of St. Louis industrial products will be displayed, besides theatrical spectacles, military tournaments, fireworks and bands.

Century Electric Co. to Distribute Stock Valued at $120 a Share.

Persons, who worked for the Century Electric Co. throughout 1925 and are still there on March 15, will share in a distribution of profits, in the form of $190,000 in common stock, at the valuation of $120 a share. This amounts to at least 7 per cent of each recipient's salary for the year. There are 3000 employees in all, many of whom are already stockholders.

The company was organized in 1903 to manufacture electric motors and fans, starting in a two-story structure where the Kinloch Building is located now. It moved to Nineteenth and Olive streets in 1910 and since then has expanded largely in that neighborhood. Its products are shipped around the world. One of its most important lines is the manufacture of small motors for household refrigerating machines and store ice cream cabinets, the call for which is increasing.

GASTON B. MEANS TESTIFIES 2 HOURS BEFORE GRAND JURY

Convicted Former U. S. Agent Again a Witness in American Metal Co. Case Inquiry.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Gaston B. Means, former Department of Justice agent, now serving a two-year term in Atlanta penitentiary, testified for two hours today before the Federal grand jury, which is investigating the American Metal Co. case. It was the second time he had appeared as a witness before the jury.

Means worked under Harry M. Daugherty when the latter was Attorney-General of the United States. Daugherty himself was a witness before the grand jury recently. Col. Thomas W. Miller, former Allen Property Custodian, was indicted last year on a charge of conspiring to defraud the Government in the release of approximately $7,000,000 of sequestered assets of the American Metal Co. to the allegedly German owners.

PARTY "SOLD OUT"
BY LEADERS ON TAX
BILL, REED SAYS

Missouri Senator, in Interview, Deplores "Disgraceful Surrender" in Pledge to Administration

FAVORS BIG CUTS ON SMALLER INCOMES

He Declares That, Under Law, Mellon Is Ineligible to Hold His Post as Treasurer.

BY PAUL Y. ANDERSON.
Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—In a remarkable interview given the Post-Dispatch correspondent last night, Senator James A. Reed of Missouri accused Democratic leaders in Congress of "selling out the party" by agreeing to support the Republican plan of tax reduction.

A virtually called upon the rank and file of the party throughout the country to repudiate their "leadership."

It was not, he explained, that he opposed to tax reduction. But he opposed to the present Republican bill, whereby the greatest reductions are in the taxes upon incomes of $10,000 a year or more, and whereby the inheritance tax and the publicity of income tax payments will be repealed.

Senator Reed returned to Washington in time to vote for the Norris amendment. This amendment would have provided for publicly income tax returns, in addition to the present publicity on tax payments. It was defeated at the light session by a vote of 49 to 32, thus presaging the abolition of all publicity in the completed bill. Immediately afterward Senator Reed was seen by the correspondent.

"A Disgraceful Surrender," he said, "the Democratic leaders here have agreed to accept the Mellon settlement of taxation. It is a disgraceful surrender. It begins to look as if the rank and file of the party have been sold out by its leaders. The party is sound, but its present leadership in Congress is not."

"When Coolidge can take them one ear and lead them into the World Court, and when Mellon can take them by the other ear and lead them into Wall Street, it is time for the people to apply the boot."

The statement could be interpreted only as a direct attack upon Senator Robinson, the minority leader, and Senator Simmons, the ranking Democratic member of the Senate Finance Committee, and perhaps to a less degree upon Representative John Garner of Texas, the ranking Democratic member of the House Ways and Means Committee, all of whom have agreed to support the Republican bill.

Criticism Reduction Plan.
"Of course," Reed continued, "I believe that taxes should be reduced. But I believe that reduction should begin with the tax on small incomes, then proceed to the tax on medium incomes and, last of all, to the tax on the great incomes running into millions of dollars a year. In this bill—the bill which the leaders of the Democratic party are supporting here—the largest proportionate reduction is for the benefit of the largest incomes."

"Publicity is to disappear, repealed by the votes of the very men who put it into the present bill.
That such a bill is even offered is an insult to the vast majority of the taxpayers of this country, and that Democratic leaders are supporting it is a challenge to the Democratic party to find new leaders."

"After being defeated in Congress for years by a combination of Democrats and insurgent Republicans, Secretary Mellon finally has won his fight for big business."
"There never was a time in the history of this republic when the great financial interests were accompanied in control of the government as the present hour."
"There never was a high priest in the temple of privilege more faithful and zealous than Calvin Coolidge." And there never was a more obsequious collection of acolytes and income burners on both sides of the Senate chamber than there is today.

"Mellon Ineligible for Post."
Discussing the charge contained in an affidavit filed with the Congress Committee by Daniel Hickey, and read to the Senate yesterday by Senator Norris, that the three Mellon banks in Pittsburgh were relieved of the payment of $1,900 in excess profits tax through an irregular ruling by a subordinate official in the treasury department, Reed said:

"There isn't the slightest question that under the law, Mr. Mellon is ineligible to hold the office of Secretary of the Treasury."

WHEN BUSINESS SLUMPS, INCREASE WAGES, SAYS FORD

"For True Prosperity, Worker Should Be Able to Buy What He Makes."

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—The way to check a threatened business depression is to cut prices and increase wages, Henry Ford says in an interview published in the current issue of Collier's weekly.

"It is good business," said Ford, "always to raise wages and never to lower them. Higher wages and lower prices mean greater power—more customers."

The theory that the right price for a commodity is "what the traffic will bear," and the right wage is "the lowest sum a man will work for," is an unsound one, the automobile manufacturer believes.

"The right price is the price an article can steadily be sold for," he stated, "and the right wage is the wage the employer can steadily pay."

Ford maintains that skillful management can always find ways of increasing wage rates, and that it discovers waste elimination and other economical methods of operation in process.

"Any attempt to fix a 'living wage,'" continued Ford, "is an insult to the intelligence of both managers and workers. This implies that all men are alike. Fortunately, they are not. Only a few care to live this year the way they lived last year."

In conclusion, Ford gave his definition of service: "I define service as the low cost production of high-grade goods by well-paid labor and distributed at a profit. No man can really claim to be in business unless he has equipped himself to attain these objectives. There can be no true prosperity until the worker on an ordinary commodity can buy what he makes."

PINCHOT'S DRY BILLS PASSED
Pennsylvania Senate Approves Them; Now Up to House.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 9.—Two measures backed by Gov. Pinchot for control of distilleries and breweries have been passed by the State Senate. They now go to the House. The distillery bill was passed, 31 to 15, last night, and the brewery bill 28 to 18.

The two measures provide for the creation of an alcohol permit board and issuance of permits to distilleries and breweries. The distillery bill is threatened with death in Rome by the Prefect of Police as the executioner. An edict has been issued forbidding the wearing of masks in streets and public places. Even at private masquerade balls and dances where covering the face is not criminal, Government officials and police officers have the right to demand that the masks be lifted and that the wearers identify themselves.

law provides that that office cannot be held by a man engaged in commerce. Here is a man engaged in almost every line of commerce, and he gets around the law by saying that he has resigned his directorships, and is merely a stockholder in the corporations. If that suffices as an excuse, a man need only incorporate himself to evade the law.

"This law has brought out the very reasons for the law. Here we have an accusation that Mr. Mellon's subordinates in the treasury were guilty of irregularities by which his corporations were relieved of their just taxes. It was to prevent just such transactions that the law was enacted."

"But Mr. Mellon has won his fight with Congress—with the assistance of Democratic leaders. His present position is one of the most perfect illustrations that the great corporations are in full control of this administration. Heretofore we had heard of indirect control of the Government by a little group of big financiers. But now they have moved one of their principal men—perhaps the second richest man in the country—into a position of open and direct control of the Government's finances. And Democratic leaders join with Republicans to enact his wishes into law."

"THE INTIMATE PAPERS OF COL. HOUSE" Framing Federal Reserve Act and Choice Of Board, Wilson's First Great Reform

"Main Thing," Texan Advised President, "Is Always to Do the Job Better Than Any One Else Has Done It"—Col. House's Novel and How It Foreshadowed Achievements of Administration.

Arranged and Edited by Prof. Chas. Seymour, Professor of History, Yale University.

Copyright, 1926, by Edward M. House, Inc. All Rights Reserved. Printed by arrangement with Houghton Mifflin and New York Tribune, Inc.

"The main thing, I think," wrote Col. House to Wilson July 31, 1913, "is always to do the job better than anyone else has ever done it, and the political end will take care of itself. This has always been my theory and I have found it satisfactory and successful."

"May 11, 1913: Capt. Bill McDonald once told me," House recalled, "that he attributed his still being alive to the fact that he had never hesitated the fraction of a second, but had always gone straight toward the point of danger, and the courage of the other fellow had always failed. I urged this attitude upon the President as strongly as I knew how and told him it was the most essential thing of all."

"April 27, 1914: We talked of the desirability of pushing the progressive cause forward. I thought unless we did this we could not justify being in the position we were. We spoke of the political results of such a course and came to the conclusion that it was best not to consider that aspect at all, but to go resolutely forward with the reform program and let the future take care of itself."

Col. House's Novel.
The extent of Col. House's influence upon the legislative plans of the administration may be gathered from a remarkable document which deserves some attention. In the autumn of 1912, immediately after the presidential election, there was published a novel, or political romance, entitled "Philip Dru: Administrator."

Col. House was the author of this imaginative work. The specific measures enacted by Philip Dru as administrator of the nation indicated the reforms desired by House.

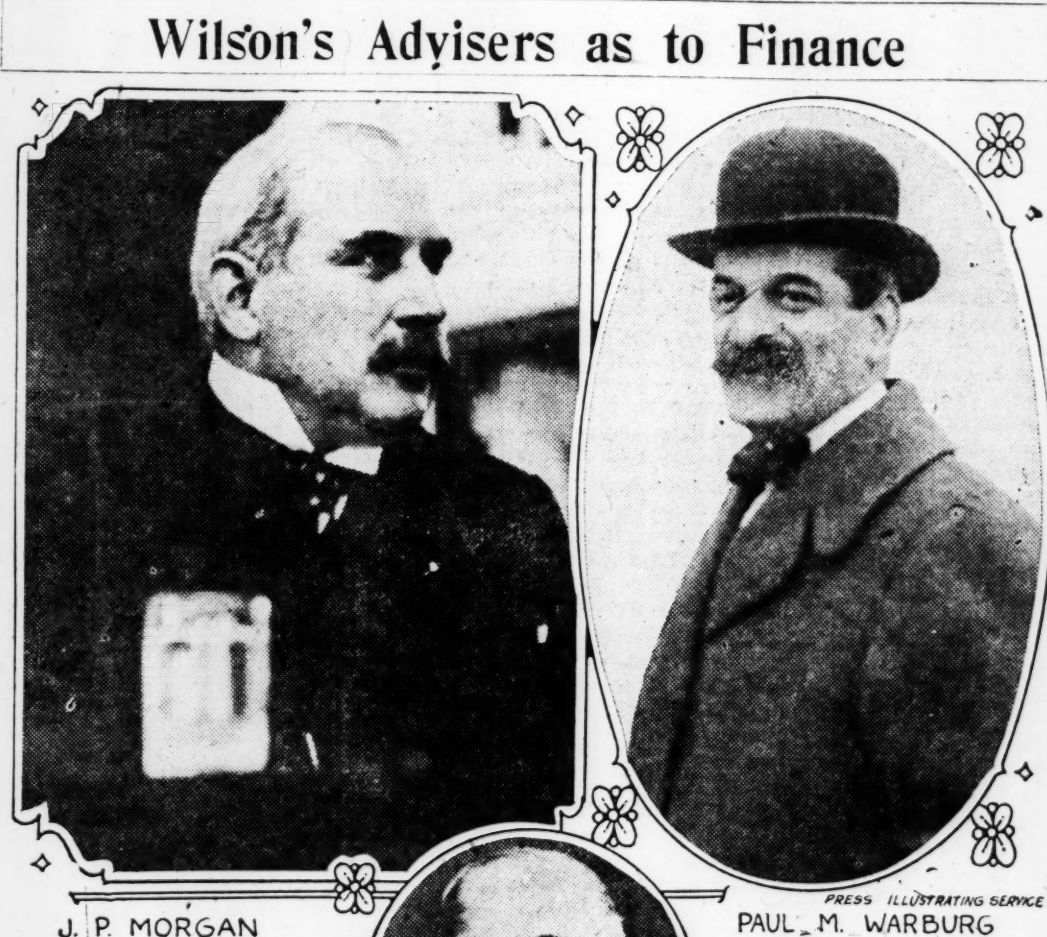

The administrator appointed a "board composed of economists and others well versed in matters relating to the tariff and internal revenue, who were instructed to work out a tariff law which would contemplate the abolition of the theory of protection as a governmental policy."

"The administrator further directed the tax board to work out a graduated income tax."

Philip Dru also provided for the "formulation of a new banking law, affording a flexible currency, bottomed largely upon commercial assets, the real wealth of the nation, instead of upon debt, as formerly."

"He also proposed making corporations share with the Government and states a certain part of their net earnings."

To such an extent had Col. House formulated his ideas upon national problems before the election of Wilson. "In regard to 'Philip Dru,'" wrote House in 1916, "I want to say that there are some things in it I wrote hastily and in which I do not concur, but most of it I stand upon as being both my ethical and political faith."

J. P. MORGAN
MORGAN "had a currency plan already formulated and printed. We discussed it at some length."

Warburg (Col. House records) "is much disturbed over the currency situation. He had a new suggestion in regard to grouping the regional reserve banks."

SCHIFF "did not agree as to the advisability of doing this (grouping the reserve banks more closely together). He thought the regional reserve banks should be cut down to four and let it go at that."

up his mind as to what was good and what was bad in the innumerable suggestions that came to him, and that was all he was doing. I advised against going to the President with new suggestions. I thought they should be taken to Secretary McAdoo, Senator Owen and Mr. Glass; if they agreed as to the advisability of accepting them, the President would probably also accept them."

Col. House acted in much the same capacity when it came to the appointment of the board as he did in the selection of the Cabinet. He gathered lists of possibilities, interviewed them, culled opinions about them, sifted the names and passed them on to President Wilson and Secretary McAdoo. The following excerpts are typical:

"Jan. 21, 1914—After dinner we (Wilson and House) went to the President's study as usual, and began work on the Federal Reserve Board appointments. I insisted that it was the most important constructive legislative measure that had been passed since the foundation of the republic and thought its success or failure would largely depend upon the personnel of the board."

"Nov. 17, 1913: Paul Warburg telephoned about his trip to Washington," recorded House. "He is much disturbed over the currency situation and requested an interview, along with Jacob Schiff and Cleveland H. Dodge. Mr. Dodge came in advance of the others. He said he felt obliged to come at their request, because they had just given him a substantial subscription for the Y. M. C. A. fund. He had a feeling that the President knew what he was doing and did not need any more advice than he was getting from the channels he himself selected. I told him I shared this view and that, since all the experts disagreed, it left one in doubt as to what to do."

"Mr. Schiff and Mr. Warburg came in a few minutes. Warburg did most of the talking. He had a new suggestion in regard to grouping the regional reserve banks, so as to get the units welded together and in easier touch with the Federal Reserve Board. Mr. Schiff did not agree as to the advisability of doing this. He thought the regional reserve banks should be cut down to four and let it go at that."

"Moses and Aarons." "They wanted me to go to Washington with Mr. Warburg and Mr. Dodge," Mr. Schiff said. "I was the Moses and they would be the Aarons. He asked if I knew my Bible well enough for this to be clear to me. I told him I did. I combated the idea that the President was stubborn in his stand upon the currency measure. I thought he had to be firm and had to make

300 MOVIE FOLK IN JAPAN CHARGED WITH LESE MAJESTE

Love Affairs Pictures in Mythological Romance Shocking to Imperial Family.

TOKIO, Feb. 9.—A suit has been filed in the procuracy's office of the Tokyo Supreme Court charging 300 motion-picture actors and actresses with "lese majeste." The complaint is that in a "super production," which presented a mythological romance, the love affairs pictured were of such a shocking nature that the film is disrespectful to the imperial family.

Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, Jan. 25.—If the stories of Brillat-Savarin, which it is proposed to publish in commemoration of his centenary, reveal their author to the world as a successful writer of fiction as well as a gastronome, he may perhaps be regarded as repaying the interest which the famous novelists have taken in matters of the table. Balzac took a keen interest in cookery. So also did George Sand, whose cookery it was reputed to be as exciting as her romances. Joseph Conrad, as he admitted in connection with a cookery book written by Mrs. Conrad, gave a high place in his esteem to the culinary arts, while George Meredith left a book of cookery receipts in his own handwriting.

by members of Congress should be prima facie evidence of unfitness, and I would not take any suggestions from that quarter without the most careful investigation. What I mean is that their recommendations would be political, and therefore largely worthless.

"March 25, 1924: Houston, McAdoo Williams and I," wrote House, "discussed the division of the country into districts and the location of the regional Reserve banks."

New Names Needed.
"In the evening the President and I dined alone and went immediately to his study to have an old-time business session in regard to the Federal Reserve Board. I found he had added no names to those I had given him before I left for Texas. We concluded, however, that I should get up some new material and submit it to him next week, when he hopes to be able to visit me in New York."

Col. House to the President: New York, April 3, 1924. Dear Governor: I am terribly disappointed that you could not come this week, and more particularly since Mrs. Wilson's condition is the cause.

I have been working assiduously towards getting a list of suggestions to submit to you for the Federal Reserve Board. Since you are not coming, I am inclosing them in this.

If Richard Olney could take the two-year term it would be fine for Houston could then be appointed to succeed him. I have asked a number of people whose opinions are worth while, in regard to Olney, and they all approve it. I do not know whether he would accept, but I have been told that he might do so.

Affectionately yours,
E. M. HOUSE.
Notes made by House of conversations with Wilson in April throw light on the final process of appointment.

April 15, 1914: We motored for an hour and a half and had a delightful talk. We discussed the Federal Reserve Board at length and McAdoo's attitude toward the different names proposed. I had taken the precaution to thresh these matters out with McAdoo and could tell the President his state of mind. I am anxious for this board to administer the currency law successfully, for I am certain the President's reputation in history will rest largely upon its success or failure.

"April 28, 1914: After dinner we went to the office for the President to sign his mail. We read the Mexican dispatches together and afterward got down to the real finish of the Federal Reserve Board."

Writes Down Names.
"He took his pen and wrote down their names—Richard Olney first, then Paul Warburg, Harding, Wheeler and Miller. He turned to me and said, 'To whom would you give the ten-year term?' I advised giving it to Miller, which he did. He gave Olney the two-year term. Warburg four years, Harding and Wheeler the six and eight-year terms."

FINAL HEARING BY ALDERMEN ON ZONING MEASURE

Passage of the Ordinance With Some Minor Amendments Predicted by President of Board.

COMMITTEE TO FILE REPORT SOON

Bill Explained in Detail and Purposes of the Law Stated by City Plan Chairman.

Enactment of the pending city zoning ordinance, with some minor amendments, by the Board of Aldermen, was predicted by President Neun of the board, following the second and final public hearing of the Aldermen's legislative committee, last night, on the measure.

About 30 persons attended the hearing, and no one spoke against the measure as a whole, though two speakers suggested changes in detail. The Real Estate Exchange, which has taken an attitude of opposition, and has predicted that the State Supreme Court would declare the measure invalid, was not officially represented either last night or at the hearing held a week before. The exchange, however, presented its position fully at a recent Chamber of Commerce luncheon, attended by the Aldermen.

E. J. Russell, chairman of the City Plan Commission, which acted as the Zoning Commission through the past summer in preparing the ordinance, spoke of the purposes of the law, and its prospects of standing court tests, in view of the growing disposition of business courts to uphold zoning laws based upon the police power of the State.

Little Limit on Height.
Speaking of the height provisions of the bill, Chairman Russell said: "Frankly, there is little limit on height. Under the allowance for setbacks and corner space, it would be possible to build to a height of 1000 feet on a downtown block, if the building occupied the entire block. The new Bell Telephone building could be made four stories higher and still meet the proposed new requirements."

He explained, as the commission has previously explained, the height rule which is that buildings occupying the entire lot, without setbacks or open courts, are limited to a height of 150 feet downtown and 120 feet on traffic thoroughfares, but that all the space taken out for courts and setbacks may be added, on a basis of cubical content, to the height.

He said the ordinance was more liberal than the preceding ordinance, which the State Supreme Court declared invalid. The residence section has been greatly increased, as compared with the former ordinances, and two-family homes, churches, private schools, libraries and playgrounds are included in the permitted uses of property in the residence district. The downtown district has been expanded, in the hope of encouraging the more extended erection of high buildings, without loss of present values.

View of Adjustment Board.
He warned the Aldermen that they would be "damned" if they passed the bill, or defeated it, or modified it. He said that, in his opinion, the Board of Adjustment, as proposed in the bill, does not take power belonging to the Aldermen. He hoped this to the Board of Appeals which existed under the old charter, to hear appeals from rulings of the Building Commissioner on various points of the building code.

"Such a board," he said, "is charged with the duty of holding the spirit of the law. It has the power to modify the letter of the law, keeping in mind the right of the owner to receive a reasonable return from his property. In establishing such a board, the Aldermen will be delegating only the technique of carrying out the zoning law. It will remain in their power to amend the law and change the districts as may be rendered advisable by any change in conditions."

Chairman Russell said that provisions for compensation to owners restricted in use of property, which have been suggested as a legal necessity, would be utterly impracticable.

Legal Argument for Bill.
Albert L. Smith, former Assistant City Counselor and chairman of the Legislative Committee of the North St. Louis Business Men's Association, made a legal argument for the validity of the measure, and said it was likely that the State Supreme Court, which decided against ROCKINGHAM, N. H., Feb. 8.—Mr. George C. Taylor's struggles to sweep back the tide of unpopularity which threatens to inundate the spoken drama. The producer has armed himself with two brooms. One is what he calls the "all-star" cast, which in less degenerate days would have meant simply an all-round, capable company. The other is the revival of classical plays.

He has advertised to St. Louis this season with Sheridan's "The Rivals," presenting Mrs. Fiske as Mrs. Malaprop; and the same playwrights "The School for Scandal," with Jefferson de Angelis, O. P. Heggie, James Dale and Henrietta Crossman. Last night a third gale was put into port at the American Theater. It was "Close Quarters," an adaptation by A. E. Thomas of "Le demi-monde" by Alexandre Dumas, fils; and in the crew were Elsie Ferguson, Margaret Lawrence, Elsie Shannon, Wallace Eddinger, Geoffrey Kerr and Bruce Melne.

English or American?

An audience which virtually filled the paragon and even sent a few rain rivulets seeping upstairs gave many signs of relish in the production. It was, in fact, a novel pleasure to hear a drama which still kept some traces of literary and constructive distinction, and which presented a positive point of view. It was also charming to see at work a company which, for the most part, was not palpably amateur but professional—actors who knew easily how to speak, gesticulate and move upon the boards.

In modernizing "Le demi-monde," Mr. Thomas has shifted the time from 1850 to the present, and the home from Paris to London. He has equipped the characters with English rather than French names. Despite his Marquises and Honorables and Ladies, their speech has perceptibly an American flavor. St. Ives, for instance, announces jovially that the Prince of Wales has fallen off his horse and broken his collar bone again. Owing to a quaint sense of humor, the misadventures of the royal youth are a subject of jest on every Yankee vaudeville stage. They would scarcely be such in an English drawing room.

Face of 1926, Heart of 1850.

The modernization of the French drama lies on the surface—in talk of post-war conditions, mention of celebrated kinds of automobiles, costumes and phrases. At heart it is unchanged mid-Victorian. It is only fair to state that the moral derives from Dumas himself. Once a companion in the revels of that bon vivant, Dumas pere, the son experienced a revolution and turned into a Huguenot parson among playwrights. The particular object of his aversion was the woman who, in her love affairs, transgresses the taboos of the past.

Such a woman is the heroine of "Close Quarters." Mrs. Rita Harley is one of London's eminent demurens. At the age of 28 she conceives an ambition to become respectable through matrimony. For this purpose she requires a particular sort of bridegroom. He must be rich and lovable, and he must know nothing of her past. These qualities are ideally fulfilled in Capt. Oliver North, who arrives in London after five years in India.

Heroine Takes to Flight.
The experienced Delilah has no difficulty in bringing the untutored youth to a proposal. Her principle in selecting him is to bring to a sweet joy, not that she herself may be the laughing stock of the world, but that we may enjoy health and happiness. It is a sentimental mode of thought, not that it is a sentimental mode of thought, but that it is a sentimental mode of thought.

No sooner does it appear that the doughty peer is certain to betray her to North than Rita flees incontinently from the scene. This situation provides her with a pathetic adieu with her unsuspecting fiancé, and with an effective collapse for a final curtain as she begins a farewell letter to him. But even Dumas did not treat his heroine so badly. He permitted her to have valor, and she battled for her cause with force and arms to the very last page of the play.

Acting Mostly Excellent.
If Mr. Thomas had been writing a modern drama of his own, the chances are—judging from current plays on the same theme—that he would have had a few months' experience in the English stage, broken some crockery and returned to deliver ways. As it is the standard is firmly enforced.

We have little but praise for the acting of Mr. McRae as the polished, stately and old-fashioned Marquis of Darnley. He is a fine actor, and his performance is a masterpiece of the art. His character is a fine example of the type, and his acting is a masterpiece of the art. His character is a fine example of the type, and his acting is a masterpiece of the art.

Social Activities

A GROUP of prominent St. Louisans will depart today for New Orleans to sail later in the week for a Caribbean Sea trip with the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce party. In the group are Mrs. Leslie Dana of Brentmoor and her daughter, Miss Judith; Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Desloge Jr. of Clayton road, Mrs. John Leigh Green of 12 Kingsbury place and her daughter, Miss Elise; Mrs. John Graham Drew, Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. G. Meyer of 5503 Clemens avenue, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett M. Myers of 4925 West Pine boulevard and Mrs. Lon O. Hooker of 28 Portland place.

Plans have been changed for the wedding of Miss Judith Dana, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Dana of Brentmoor, and James Ward Thorne of Chicago. Instead of April 16, the ceremony will take place April 24, at St. Michael and All Angels' Church, at 5 o'clock, and a reception will follow at the Dana home. The bridal party has not been selected.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Clifford Rosenberger will return home this week from their wedding trip. They went to Palm Beach, Fla., after the ceremony three weeks ago and are now visiting friends in Philadelphia. Mrs. Rosenberger was Mrs. Ralph McKittick of 4328 Westminster place. They will reside for the present at her home.

Mr. Samuel C. Davis of 13 Westmoreland place departed Sunday night for Lake Placid, N. Y., to spend a few days participating in the winter sports.

Mrs. Charles Parsons Pettus of 33 Westmoreland place will return home Thursday from New York, where she has been visiting her sister, Mrs. George Welch Simmons.

Miss Alice Hadley, daughter of Mr. Leo G. Hadley of 3247 Longfellow boulevard, is recuperating at her home from a recent serious illness. Her wedding to Bernard C. McDonald, which was to have taken place this winter, has been postponed until fall.

Mrs. Horace E. Hoppel of Hampton Park will spend the summer in Europe.

For the first time in the history of the school, the junior class at Mary Institute will give a "prom" Saturday night in the school building for the senior class.

Miss Katherine Sipple, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Sipple of Brentmoor, will depart today for the East. In New York she will be at the Vassar Club with Miss Carolyn Bailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Bailey, who is studying music, and will attend a house party to be given by Eastern friends in Poland Springs, Me. Later she will be the guest of Miss Marceline Reyburn at the winter home of her mother, Mrs. Charles E. Sparks, in Palm Beach, Fla.

Mr. H. P. Fritch and his daughter, Miss Susan, of 5445 Cabanne avenue, and Miss Elinor Maxwell

Marquis; for Mr. Kerr, the juvenile delinquent; for Mr. Eddinger, as an amiable and quick-witted man-about-town; for Miss Lawrence as that jolly and realistic trollop, Mrs. Camilla Claiborne; and for Miss Shannon, as an old noblewoman fallen on poverty and questionable companions.

Miss Ferguson is as fair and feminine as ever, but by no means so slender; what might be a genuine appeal, particularly in emotional episodes, is handicapped by brusque, stilted and mannish diction, by pawing and meaningless gestures, and by a method riddled with artificiality.

Ruth Draper's Humor and Tragedy in Character Sketches.
RUTH DRAPER, at the Principia last night, evoked from a genius and imagination a dozen living characters. She was by turns a German governess, a club woman at an affair, a Southern girl at a dance, a fond mother at a children's party, a Dalmatian peasant, a telephone girl at her switchboard, a French modiste, a flapper, a Maine wife of bleak and dreary outlook, a Scotch immigrant girl.

Her materials are voice, gesture—perhaps a shadow. With these she conjures into being personalities of which most intimate glimpses are given, as perhaps a caricaturist would do, in a few swift strokes and five minutes of time.

On the surface it is the caricature of a Du Maurier or a Charles Dana Gibson. Beneath is something bigger—the caricature of a Dickens. The woman at the art exhibit, the mother at the children's party, the Southern girl at the dance, the French modiste, the flapper—these were bits of genial social satire with snail-tipped shafts.

But there was added in the humor of the German governess; and in the latter half of her program Miss Draper's caricature passed into something deeper than the pathos of her Dalmatian peasant. There was stark tragedy at the telephone switchboard. The study of the woman on the Maine porch was a Eugene O'Neill drama in five minutes. If the story of the Scotch immigrant ended happily it was only because life sometimes does.

One suspects that Miss Draper might give some dramatists lessons in playwrighting. If voice, gesture and emotion evoke a character they do not do so without dramatic situation. Her brief playlets are written. She manages, like the father of the English stage, without scenery. She is a master economist of means, and only the Bernard Shaw of "Pygmalion" could adequately discuss her phonetics.

Give sore throat antiseptic treatment and make your treatment continuous

SORE throat is serious—just as sore throat—even when it is not the forerunner of actual disease.

At the first sign of rawness, begin giving your throat vigorous antiseptic treatment—and keep it up at frequent intervals all day. Gargles, sprays, swabs fail because their effect lasts only a short time and ordinarily they can be used only night and morning.

Formamint provides the ideal throat antiseptic because it is the only one of proved germicidal power that can be carried with you and used all day long—no matter where you may be.

To treat sore throat—take a tablet every hour or so. To prevent infection, take one about every two hours when ever you are exposed to disease, dust or cold. All druggists.

To enable you to test Formamint, we will send you a metal pocket case of Formamint tablets on receipt of four cents for postage. Address Bauer Chemical Co., Dept. 63, 113 West 18th Street, New York.

CONTRACTORS REFUSE TO BID ON ISOLATION HOSPITAL HEATING

Members of Association Insist on Dealing With City as Head of Construction Firm

St. Louis heating contractors have refused to submit bids for the heating plant of the Isolation Hospital administration building, for which the general contract was let Dec. 27 to the John Hill Construction Co. This developed today, when members of the Heating and Ventilating Contractors' Association appeared before the Board of Public Service, to ask that they be permitted to submit their bids to the city direct.

Until about three months ago, the city received bids from heating, plumbing and electrical contractors. Its present policy is to include these items under the general contract. The planning and electrical contractors objected to the change, but they have conformed to the new system, while the heating contractors have refused to conform.

President Kinsey said that the refusal to submit bids to Hill, on the Isolation Hospital job, indicated that the heating contractors had a strong organization. The heating men replied that there is lively competition in their line, and that the city would save money by resuming the former method. The matter was taken under advisement.

The old zoning law by a 4 to 3 vote, would be prevailing, if not unanimously in support of the measure. He told of similar changes of attitude of the Supreme Courts of Illinois and other states. The Ohio Supreme Court decided two zoning cases in one day, one upholding the Cincinnati ordinance, because it was comprehensive in its provisions and invalidating the ordinance of the City of Youngstown, because it was limited in its provisions, and thus became class legislation.

Decisions of the highest courts of Wisconsin, Maine, Massachusetts, New York, Ohio, Illinois, Minnesota, Iowa, Louisiana, Kansas, North Dakota, California and the District of Columbia were cited by Smith and Chairman Russell in their argument of the likelihood that the present measure would be upheld in case of a test in court.

H. G. Clymer, architect, cross-questioned Russell as to the powers and legal status of the Board of Adjustment, holding that it seemed to have the power to permit violations of the law. W. H. Green, speaking for the West End Business Men's Association, argued that the same height should be permitted in outlying business districts as downtown, and said that future developments of air travel might make tall buildings in the outlying sections a necessity. Russell retorted that the buildings could be made as high as desired, if erected on the tower plan.

Women Voters for Measure. Mrs. Elwood Street submitted resolutions of the Twenty-Eighth Ward League of Women Voters, favoring the bill. A Southampton indorsement was read by a resident of that district, who said of an attempt now being made to prevent erection of a business building at the curb, on Lansdowne avenue, where there are now only residences on a 20-foot building line.

W. Scott Hancock, attorney, representing the Chamber of Commerce, reported that the directors of the chamber heartily favored passage of the bill, "with such modifications as may be necessary to make it more practical."

Alderman Eilers presided at the hearing in the absence of Chairman Schwartz of the committee. The committee, while it will not hold further public hearings, will have the bill under consideration for a few days, and any communications about the bill may be sent to the clerk of the Board of Aldermen.

Chairman Russell of the City Plan Commission will speak on the proposed zoning ordinance, at a meeting to be held tonight in Carondelet Library, Michigan avenue and Kraus street, under the auspices of the Carondelet Improvement Association. H. H. Ryan will speak on an educational topic.

Addresses on Smoke Nuisance. Addresses on "Lifting the Smoke Screen" by Dr. F. A. Berger of Washington University and "Local Self Government" by Probate Judge Samuel Hodgdon of St. Louis County will feature a meeting of the West End Business Men's Association.

MORE FOES OF CALLES SLAIN

Mexican Political Refugee Reports Three Executions.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 9.—Three more executions of persons hostile to the Calles Government have taken place in Mexico. H. Esparza Martinez, Mexican political refugee, said here last night. He listed Eudora Gonzales, large land proprietor in the State of Michoacan; Gilberto Chavez Alcaraz of Sayula, State of Jalisco, and Dr. Francisco Rodriguez Be-tancourt as men who had faced firing squads recently. Dr. Betancourt was executed at Aguas Calientes, State of Jalisco, last week.

he said. Martinez is a leader of the Da La Huerta sympathizers here. His records recently were seized by the Department of Justice.

DAYTON, O., Feb. 9.—Fire which destroyed several buildings and their contents at Wright Field yesterday, caused a total loss of $762,000, according to A. W. Robbins, commandant. The fire, which originated in the oil and paint house, started from an acid substance on the floor which was ignited by a welder's torch.

SECOND GROGAN CASE SLAYER ACCEPTS LIFE

Leo Sproul Withdraws Motion for New Trial—James Widmer Faces Murder Charge.

Leo Sproul, second of the three young robbers thus far convicted of the murder of Patrolman John H. Grogan, has withdrawn his motion for a new trial. His sentence of life imprisonment has not been formally pronounced by Judge Frey, and this will be deferred until it is learned whether Sproul will testify in behalf of James Widmer, fourth of the defendants to go to trial. Testimony in Widmer's case will be heard tomorrow, following the selection of a jury yesterday. Sproul has been summoned as a witness for the defense. If he testifies in such a way as to obstruct the State's case, it is understood, he will be tried again for the murder of Harvey Hammett, who was killed while trying to help Grogan stop the robbers, after the Collins printing plant robbery at 1531 Washington avenue, July 3 last.

Frank Bird, the first of the youths to be convicted, who is now at Jefferson City.

Medford Wood, third of the young men to be convicted of the Grogan murder, has filed a motion for a new trial, and the motion has been overruled. His attorney has said he would appeal.

Because of Wood's attitude, he is to be placed on trial for the Hammett murder, and his trial will begin March 8, unless he falls into line with the State's program in the meantime.

Maurice O'Flaherty, a confessed participant in the robbery, is the State's chief witness.

SINCLAIR LEWIS

A Great Story of Romance and Adventure

DIFFERENT from any story Sinclair Lewis has ever written is this tale of the North Woods. Follow the adventures and romantic experiences of Alverna, the come-hither, ex-manicure girl from Minneapolis—her husband, Joe Easter—and two would-be-hard-boiled heroes in the Great Open Spaces. Redskins, trappers and fur traders form the background; drama—romance—action—are woven all through it.

While you may think you know Sinclair Lewis—you really don't until you've read "Mantrap". For he has never done anything like it before—and if you enjoyed the folks on Main Street, and shared the ambitions of Arrowsmith, you'll thrill over "Mantrap"—and chuckle, too.

It's the biggest thing of the year in reading—beginning in this week's issue of COLLIER'S—out today.

TESTIMONY TAKEN ON REALTY VALUE FOR LACLEDE GAS

Appraiser Questioned Before Service Commission
About $5,000,000 Total Set by Gas Company.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 9.—The city of St. Louis is backing away at the figures which the Laclede Gas Light Co. has presented to the Public Service Commission as the valuation upon which it should be permitted to base its rates for gas. The hearing, which was resumed yesterday, is likely to continue through this week and perhaps longer.

City Counselor Muench and Assistant Counselor Ferris of St. Louis yesterday cross-examined John F. Schoplin, of the real estate department of the Mercantile Trust Co., who was called upon by the Laclede company to appraise its real estate. The total value claimed by the company for its real estate is about $5,000,000. The questions put to Schoplin indicated that the city later would introduce experts of its own in an attempt to cut this amount by half.

Schoplin was questioned at length concerning his valuation of 277,000 square feet at Mound and Miami streets at $10 a square foot. He declared that he based his estimate on the average price paid by railroads for property in the vicinity upon which the roads have built freight houses during the last 10 or 20 years.

Bulk of the Sales, He Says.

He testified that the sales constituted two-thirds of all made in the neighborhood in that time.

The city's attorneys brought out that the last major sale in the district was made in 1912, at $3.12 per square foot, and elicited from Schoplin that he knew of no sales since at $10 or more a square foot. The city contends that Schoplin's valuation on the basis of railroad uses of property in that vicinity is unduly high because railroads are commonly required to pay above the current market value for many years to be desirable for railroad purposes and that the district is too remote from the downtown section to have so great a value as $10 a foot.

Schoplin insisted, however, that railroads still are seeking to establish freight houses in the district. He was followed up on the stand by E. L. White, controller for the Laclede company, who will be cross-examined as to his computation that the actual cost of the Laclede property to its present owners is $61,802,700.

Reproduction Cost.

Engineers of the company have submitted exhibits to support a declaration that the reproduction cost of the property is $70,788,000 and that its investment cost is $58,587,913.

The company is urging that the commission give greater consideration than heretofore to reproduction cost as the controlling factor of the valuation in line with recent United States Supreme Court decisions. Present rates are fixed upon an arbitrary, tentative valuation of approximately $34,000,000. The city has not yet disclosed what it will propose as a proper rate base.

Woman Indicted on Mail Charge.

KANSAS CITY, Kan., Feb. 9.—Among nine true bills returned by a special Federal grand jury here yesterday was one indicting Mrs. J. R. Beach, 40 years old, of Atchison, charging her with sending obscene matter through the mails. "Secrets of a Perpetual Honey-moon," and "Egyptian Love Secrets" are titles of objectionable matter alleged to have been sold by Mrs. Beach through the mails.

Mrs. Beach also advertised the sale of antiflat pills, although she weighs about 300 pounds, Frank H. McFarland, assistant United States attorney, said.

That Ache in Your Back

THE first thing you wake in the morning. Just a lameness that hurts so you can hardly get around. It may leave—only to be back the next morning. Or it may turn into a constant backache that keeps you worried all day long. What are you doing for it? What you should do is to watch for other signs of kidney disorder. If the kidneys act unnatural, if you have dizzy headaches, rheumatic twinges and are always tired and listless, you have good reason to suspect your kidneys. Then use Doan's Pills. No other kidney diuretic is so universally used nor so generally recommended. Ask your neighbor:

Read How These St. Louis Folks Found Relief:

MRS. M. E. CONNORS, 4481 Evans Av., says: "My back ached, and when I bent over sharp pains took me across my kidneys. There were also aches in my joints, and I was stiff all over my body. I had headache and dizzy spells, and at times there was a blur before my eyes. My kidneys were sluggish and I felt tired out. After using Doan's Pills from the Spaeth-Jose Drug Co. I was relieved."

J. P. BROWNE, barber, 4727 Page Av., says: "Long hours of standing brought on kidney trouble. It all started with a misery in my back which certainly made my work a lot harder for me. When I bent over and tried to straighten, a catch took me across my kidneys. My kidneys were disordered, too. After using Doan's Pills from the Kieffer Drug Co. the trouble left me."

MRS. M. AERY, 1706 Allen Av., says: "Heavy lifting in the past weakened my kidneys and brought on kidney trouble. My back ached a great deal, and I felt tired and worn out. When I did my housework, this annoying trouble bothered me the most for the strain was a little too much for my back. My kidneys were disordered and didn't act often enough. After using Doan's Pills from the Jones & Dolph Drug Co., the trouble left me."

When You Feel the Need of a Good Tonic—

PHYSICIANS naturally know best, and for over 33 years physicians have been prescribing Gude's Pepto-Mangan in thousands of cases. Experienced practitioners cannot be deceived by the marvelous claims of so many unscientific preparations. But they know the value of the iron, manganese and predigested albumin in Gude's Pepto-Mangan.

So if you feel the need of a quick and efficient tonic, prescribe Gude's for yourself TODAY. Your druggist has it in both liquid and tablet form.

What Doctors Write

"I regard Gude's Pepto-Mangan as one of the best tonics."

"I have obtained very excellent results with Gude's Pepto-Mangan in cases of simple anemia. Am a prescriber of it where indicated."

"I have been prescribing Gude's Pepto-Mangan now for quite a number of years. . . . I have always found it a valuable tonic and the extremely pleasant and palatable form in which Pepto-Mangan is prepared, combined with its very assimilation, has rendered it invaluable to me in my practice."

"I have used it for 15 years with always the uniform good results."

MOUNT EVEREST GOAL OF FRENCH AVIATOR

No Attempt Will Be Made to Land but Summit Will Be Photographed.

(Copyright, 1926.)

LONDON, Feb. 9.—While several attempts to reach the North Pole are in progress this summer, a new-the-ice adventuresome aeroplanist, M. Callizo, French aviator, known as "the King of the Air," who holds an altitude record of 24,500 feet, will attempt to reach the summit of Mount Everest.

Callizo will fly a new high altitude machine, now under construction at the Bellet-Spad works in France. The machine is of special design and has high lift wings, designed to avoid loss of power in the atmosphere. Metal propellers are to be used. The expedition will leave France at the end of this month and Callizo will select an operating base in India. In order to reach the summit of the undertaking, that of being caught in the wind-eddies which sweep around the side of Everest, Callizo plans to keep away from the mountain while ascending, and until he is well above the topmost peak will he set his course to fly directly over the summit by making a downward glide of 35,000 feet. Above the summit he will drop a weighted French flag, with a sealed metal tube attached, containing a record of the flight. He will make no attempt to land, for fear that the thin air would make it impossible to take off again.

A camera man will accompany Callizo and both will be equipped with oxygen breathing apparatus.

11,000,000 IN IMPROVEMENTS

The Union Electric Light and Power Co. will spend more than $11,000,000 during the year in its construction program, to keep pace with the growing demand for electricity in the territory the company is serving, it was stated today by Louis H. Egan, president in an address before a luncheon of the St. Louis Electrical Board of Trade at Hotel Statler. Approximately the same amount was spent in 1925.

Additions will be built to the Cahokia and Ashley power plants and substations and new lines to customers and users of power generated by the company will be erected.

REPORTS 100 DRESSES STOLEN

Mrs. Elizabeth Carroll, proprietor of the Elite Style Shoppe, 6925 Gravois avenue, reported to police last 100 silk dresses, valued at $500 and 15 wool waists valued at $40 were taken last night by burglars who forced an iron bar and broke a rear window to enter. The stock was not insured.

Coolidge Again Nearly Hit by Truck
WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—President Coolidge narrowly escaped injury last night when a large truck, passing close to the moving vehicle. The President was nearly run down some time ago and his secret service escorts now watch him with particular care as he crosses downtown streets.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—While several aerial attempts to reach the North Pole are in progress this summer a more ambitious and adventurous aeronaut attempt to reach the summit of Mount Everest will be made. M. Callizo, a French aviator, known as "the king of the upper air," who holds an airplane altitude record of 24,536 feet, will make an attempt to reach the summit of Mount Everest. Callizo will fly a new high altitude two-seater machine, now under construction at the Bellet-Spad works in France. The machine is of special design and has high lift wings of extraordinary thickness, shaped to give a maximum of lift in thin air at great heights. The engine of the machine will be a super-charged, 500-horsepower engine, designed to avoid loss of power in rare atmosphere. Metal propeller blades are to be used. The expedition will leave France at the end of this month and Callizo will select an operating base in India.

In order to avoid, as far as possible, one of the greatest dangers of the undertaking, that of being caught in the wind-eddies which sweep around the side of Everest, Callizo plans to keep away from the mountain while ascending, and until he is well above the top-most peak will he set his course to fly directly over the summit.

He hopes to reach the summit by making a downward glide of 35,000 feet. Above the summit he will drop a weighted French flag, with a sealed metal tube attached containing a record of the flight. He will make no attempt to land, for fear that the thin air would make it impossible to take again.

A camera man will accompany Callizo and both will be equipped with oxygen breathing apparatus.

The Union Electric Light and Power Co. will spend more than $11,000,000 during the year in its construction program, to keep pace with the growing demand for electricity in the territory the company is serving, it was stated today by Louis H. Egan, president in an address before a luncheon of the St. Louis Electrical Board of Trade at Hotel Statler. Approximately the same amount was spent last year.

Additions will be built to the Cahokia and Ashley power plants and substations and new lines to customers and users of power generated by the company will be erected.

REPORTS 100 DRESSES STOLEN

Mrs. Elizabeth Carroll, proprietor of the Elite Style Shoppe, 6925 N. Main street, reported to police that 100 silk dresses valued at $100 and 15 wool waists valued at $10 were taken last night by burglars who forced an iron bar and broke a rear window to enter. The stock was not insured.

Double Again Nearly Hit by Truck
WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—President Coolidge narrowly escaped injury last night when a large truck crashed by him as he was crossing Fifteenth street near the Treasury. Secret Service men prevented him from stepping closer to the moving vehicle. The President was nearly run down some time ago and his secret service escorts now watch him with particular care as he crosses downtown streets.

The True story of a girl who wanted thrills!

WITH every advantage that fond parents could give her, no girl ever had better reason to be contented with life and its glowing possibilities than Marion.

Yet at seventeen, she was desperately unhappy. A feverish desire to escape the commonplace routine of home possessed her.

To Marion's eager, restless mind, life in the town where she grew up seemed pitifully slow and insufferably dull.

She longed to spread her untried wings and fly, she cared not where, just so it were some place where she might be free from the stupid, silly, unreasonable restrictions of home.

She wanted to feel the throbbing surge of life; to hear the music of gay and careless laughter. She dreamed of a life of new, strange pleasures; of romantic adventure; of an existence crowded with excitement and thrills.

And the dream came true—but it also brought an awakening of bitter disillusionment and sorrow that were to live in her memory for many years.

But she had no inkling of all this when chance unexpectedly transported her to Paris—the city of a thousand delights. Without experience, knowing nothing of the world and its countless pitfalls and temptations; living only in the hectic, rose-colored world of her vivid imagination—she suddenly found herself an unwilling but almost helpless prey of forces grimly determined to bring about her downfall.

What Marion went through in the gay French Capital is a powerful, heart-gripping drama of human motives and swift action. And it is all the more convincing and thought-compelling because every word of it is true.

Countless girls who are chafing under the safeguards and restraints of their simple home surroundings will find, in this vivid story of Marion's unhappy experience, a lesson that they cannot learn too soon. Young people everywhere who cherish the belief that they are being cheated of life's pleasures—and who long to taste the wine of adventure, romance and excitement in far-away places, will read here a warning they cannot help but heed.

Marion's story, entitled "I Wanted Thrills," appears complete in True Story Magazine for March.

No matter who you are or where you live—no matter how much you think you know about life, you owe it to yourself to get the March issue of True Story and read Marion's own account of her thrilling experience. And this is only one of the many absorbing true life narratives that appear in this issue of America's most interesting, most helpful, most widely-read magazine.

Other Gripping Stories in the March True Story Are:

"Dark Ways"—The power of evil in the great city was never more vividly illustrated than in this pitiful story of a girl who was compelled by fate to match her innocence and inexperience against the wicked purposes of a rich and powerful man. A story every girl should read.

Your Story May Win a Big Prize in True Story's $50,000.00 Contest

The publishers of True Story Magazine are going to pay $50,000 to three hundred and eleven men and women in amounts ranging from $5,000 to $100 in exchange for true stories. Why not be among them?

Never was such an offer made before. Never before did men and women who are not professional writers have such a glorious opportunity to turn their life experiences into handsome sums of money.

Nearly every man and woman has lived at least one story which because of its unassailable truth, because it is actually a part of the life, the sorrows, joys, experiences of a fellow human being, has more power for good, more power to thrill and charm and hold the reader than any fiction story ever written.

We are making this offer because we want to attract the attention of people in every walk of life.

We are now receiving ample stories to maintain True Story indefinitely upon the high plane it occupies, but if it is humanly possible to raise the quality of True Story to an even higher plane, it is our desire and intention to do so. And in order to get the best, most poignantly interesting, most thoroughly helpful stories procurable we do not want a single life experience to escape us.

For rules and conditions of this mammoth Contest turn to page 65 of True Story for March.

"The Secret of Her Past"—When he swept her to the altar after a whirlwind courtship lasting but a few days, he was the happiest young man in the world. Intoxicated by her beauty, her personality, her wit, it never occurred to him to question who or what she had been before he met her. But when the clouds of suspicion began to darken the sky of his life—well, read what happened. Here again we have the old question: "Should a woman tell her husband everything?" In this heart-gripping true-life story, the question is answered in a way you won't soon forget.

"The Evil-Doer"—In every city, village and hamlet there are one or more representatives of a certain profession that is held in the highest respect and esteem by every family. Yet the members of this profession have opportunities and temptations to do evil under the guise of good that, if exercised, would mean the eternal damnation and ruin of "sentimental" wives and innocent, trusting daughters, everywhere. This tragic story, written right from life, is a case in point, and it will give you something to think about.

Powerful Sermons In True Story Form

It is not the purpose of True Story Magazine to preach. Yet, in the sense that this great magazine reveals the Truth about life, every one of its stories is a powerful sermon.

Just as the minister, through his broad sympathy and deep understanding, seeks to guide his people into the ways of righteous living and happiness—so True Story Magazine, through its true-life chronicles, sends out its message of hope, inspiration and encouragement to the millions of readers who make up its vast audience.

Human experience has proven that there is no better way of reaching the hearts and minds of the people than through actual examples.

And that is what True Story Magazine does. By revealing the mistakes, the follies, and often the tragedies of others—as well as the glad triumphs of right over wrong, it serves as a true guide, a friendly counsellor, and an unfailing inspiration to hundreds of thousands who might not be reached in any other way.

To be true, to be human, to be genuinely helpful—that is the mission of True Story Magazine. If you are unacquainted with this great publication, start with the March issue. You will find it not only fascinating reading, but in every respect a magazine of unusual interest and worth.

BEARS, VICTORS OVER TIGERS, FACE VALLEY LEADERS NEX FOLEY

Oklahoma, Still Unbeaten, Due For Game Friday

Washington Noses Out Ancient Foes 24 to 21, in Nip-and-Tuck Contest.

LOSERS' TACTICS COSTLY Playing for Time While Trying to Hold Scant Lead, Results in Disaster.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. COLUMBIA, Mo., Feb. 9.—Washington University's basketball players returned to St. Louis today with their morale considerably uplifted by a last-minute victory over the Missouri Tigers, achieved last night. As the Bears' next game is with the unbeaten Oklahoma team, present leaders in the Missouri Valley Basketball race, the Washingtons need all the encouragement they can get. Washington is now at the halfway mark in the league race, having won three games and lost three.

Cox to the Rescue.

After the lead had changed hands repeatedly, and the Bears had finally fought their way out of a tie and into a 21-to-13 advantage over the visitors, but four minutes to play, Cox rushed in to claim a held ball with McDonough, and set a free throw which he made good when McDonough fouled on the jump. Stanford scored from the floor twice in quick succession, to give the visitors a lead which the Missourians were unable to touch in the short time that remained.

For the Bears, Cox starred, though scoring honor went to Stanford, five field goals and a pair of free throws. Flammank, who scored eight of the 10 points counted by the Tigers during the first half, was the outstanding player for Missouri. The Tigers took the lead at the start of the game, held it half way through the first period, and then saw Washington force ahead to a lead of 11 to 6 before the Bengal attack again began to function. Missouri came within a point of the visitors as the half ended, with a score of 11 to 10.

Second Half Very Close. The second period was even more closely contested than the first. The lead changed hands repeatedly, neither team at any time acquiring a margin of more than three points, and three times the count was tied.

Last Night's Fights.

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, knocked out four of six men who appeared against him in exhibition bouts. They were: League, a Westerner; Tony Catalina, Memphis; Cowboy Wener and Marty Snyder.

CLEARWATER, Fla.—Joe McGowan, Detroit, knocked out Bobby Cox, Jacksonville, one round.

RUFFALO, N. Y.—Jimmy Goodrich, Buffalo, beat Ray Romney, Niagara Falls, 10 rounds.

CANTON, O.—Moeie Hahab, Akron, outpointed Jimmy Mars, New York, 10 rounds. Larry Goldberg, Brooklyn, beat Ned News Taylor, Youngstown, 10 rounds.

BOSTON.—Babe Herman, California, defeated Chick Suggs, New Bedford, 10 rounds.

PHILADELPHIA.—Tommy Longhann, Philadelphia, beat Ad Stone, Philadelphia, 10 rounds. Eddie Dempsey, Philadelphia, and Joe Bashara, Norfolk, Va., fought a draw, six rounds. Bobby Marvotti, Baltimore, knocked out Steve Ketchell, New York, one round.

NEW ORLEANS.—Buster Malin, 141, defeated Zack Blanchard, 140½, in 10 rounds. Monk Fowler beat Charlie Rodriguez in 10 rounds. Raymond Galotti whipped Bobbie Higgins in 10 rounds, and Milton "This knocked out Billy Shearoff of Evansville, Ind., in six rounds.

NEW YORK.—Carl Duane, the "Bronx Steamroller," defeated Joey Kaufman of Coney Island, 10 rounds. Johnny Elmer defeated Frank Lagonia, six rounds. Sammy Tack beat Dick Bartel, six rounds. Jack Mallon and Phil Goldstein, six-round draw, in a four-round bout Bill Wiley beat his Convars.

WRAY'S COLUMN

No Chance. FORMER world's champion wrestler Ed Lewis is launching a campaign of literary propaganda to lure the public mind back to his championship claims.

One national news service regularly falls into the habit of narrating how "Lewis successfully defended his title against Halaranby Stephanoff" or some other imported delicatessen.

But the popular mind in this vicinity already has accepted Joe Stecher. Stecher has nothing to do with Lewis' claims against the Kansas referee, who forced him, though fouled and hurt, to suffer a second fall in his match with Big Munn.

Lewis subsequently appeared on the same program in which Munn was heralded as champion, which was virtually an admission that he acknowledged Munn's claim.

Subsequently Zbyszko easily beat Munn; then Stecher downed Zbyszko, giving Joe a clear succession to the crown.

Lewis carried his exhibition stuff too far when he played with Munn, and is now reaping the reward of his own shortsightedness.

Still Popular. IN other localities, it appears, Lewis still has friends. Two unimpeachable Chicago authorities write in substance as follows:

"Joe Stecher, heavyweight title claimant, and Ed Lewis, former champion, were rival drawing cards here recently. With only a few days interval, each appeared in mat exhibitions here. Stecher drew 2000; Lewis packed the big Dreamland hall, while more than 2000 were turned away. What's the answer?"

The answer is what everybody knows: Lewis is a much more spectacular exhibitor than Joe Stecher, who displays few frills when he appears. Joe prefers to throw his man in the ring, not out of it.

Hard to Explain. BASEBALL at Illinois University last season was conducted at a loss of $5000; football's PROFITS were about $300,000. Harvard made a very few thousands out of baseball; football netted the Harvard Athletic Association $291,000.

Is football so much more popular that it completely sub-

Miss Wills Now Near Peak; Odds Cut Two Points

American Champion Says She Expects to Be at Her Very Best by Thursday.

By the Associated Press. CANNES, Feb. 9.—All of today's matches in the Carlton lawn tennis tournament were postponed because of rain.

The anticipated singles final between Suzanne Lenglen and Helen Wills this will not take place before next Sunday.

By the Associated Press. CANNES, France, Feb. 9.—The odds on Suzanne to defeat Helen in singles have dropped. Last week, seven to one was being offered, with few takers, that Miss Lenglen would prove unbeatable.

Miss Wills, dropping soft lobbing shots to which many spectators attributed her defeat in the mixed doubles at Nice, Sunday, against Suzanne, yesterday put so much steam on the ball that when she had defeated Miss Ethel Fischer of England in two love sets she also had knocked off two points in the odds. The odds that any one could hear whispered last night was five to one.

Miss Wills near Top Form. Suzanne did not grace the stand to see Miss Wills serve sizzling shots. The French flash had drawn to and remained away from the courts.

Not a single game went to deuce. Miss Wills lost only 13 points, five in the first set and eight in the second. And yet she apparently did not extend herself to defeat the English girl.

After the match was over Miss Wills was pleased with her showing, and said she expected to reach the top of her playing form tomorrow or Thursday.

It is the expectation of the connoisseurs of the Carlton tournament to make a bit of money out of the event aside from the gate receipts. He has sold the most picture rights of the expected match Saturday between Miss Wills and Miss Lenglen to an American firm for a sum said to exceed $100,000.

Miss Wills said that the deal was news to her. "I never thought of moving pictures," remarked Miss Lenglen.

But Schang has retrograded, for some years. It seems unwise to build hopes as high as Schang's words invite one to. The years exact their toll, and of catchers this is especially true.

He may prove a good catcher for a limited number of games. Well and good if he does.

But what will probably be said of him at the season's end is this: "The most valuable man of the Browns' pitching staff."

His coaching of Sisler's hurlers and his advice to the team's other catchers ought to add considerable strength to Sisler's mound corps.

Father Time Only Foe With a Chance to Take a Fall Out of Joe Stecher's Mat Supremacy

Title Holder, Asked to Name Six Men With a Chance to Beat Him, Can't Remember Any—Picks Eight Men Who May Give Him a Rough Workout.

By John E. Wray. Sports Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

At this writing it appears that Father Time will be the first foe to take a fall out of Joe Stecher's championship. Jimmy Londos is scheduled to attempt it tomorrow night, at the Coliseum. But his success is most unlikely. One can't be beaten by an Oreste Vadafli and then be conqueror of Joe Stecher, the "dope" says.

And as for the rest of the logical contenders, Joe gives them all a kind word, but no chance. Joe and Brother Tony, who interprets Joe's thoughts and serves them not to the interviewer, yesterday were asked to name six wrestlers whom they considered as having the best chance to beat Joe.

Joe smiled broadly, shrugged his shoulders as if he would say: "I don't like to seem boastful, but who are the six, anyhow, I don't know any." But finally he named the following wrestlers:

The Zbyszko brothers, Jimmy Londos, Hans Steinko, Madin Plestina, George Calza, John Pesek.

Ed Lewis. "Well, why do you name the Zbyszko first? You have beaten both of them?" Joe was asked. "The same thing goes for practically all the others," Brother Tony cut in. "Joe has two victories over Londos, two over Marin Plestina, a two-out-of-three fall victory over Pesek and four victories over Ed Lewis, at Evansville, Ind., at San Francisco, at Omaha and at Chicago. As for George Calza and Steinko, they have been beaten by men that Joe has defeated, so they are not yet ready."

Accident Might Beat Him, Joe Says. "It looks like you have a double wrap on the title, then, for a long time," said the interviewer.

Joe said he would be glad to give a continental rap for any of his opponents, Stecher will meet Londos in a finish match tomorrow night, and then hop to Philadelphia where he will oppose another title class foe two days later—George Calza.

Two title matches in three days is going some.

Protest Filed With Secretary Of U. S. F. A.

Manager of Ben Millers Cites Eleventh-Hour Switch of Referee as Suspicious.

BARKER NOT CONSULTED

Stark, Original Selection, From Detroit, Home of Alleged Ineligibles.

By Dent McKimming.

Billy Foley, manager of the Ben Miller soccer team, which was defeated by the Clan MacKenzie Club at Cleveland last Sunday, reiterated today his confidence in his grounds today with Andrew Brown, secretary of the United States Football Association. Foley charges in his protest that Clan MacKenzie used two ineligible players, one at center halfback and one at outside left, both members of the Detroit Celts.

In response to a telegram from the Post-Dispatch, J. B. Storrie of Cleveland, who refereed the cup game, stated today that while he had seen the Clan MacKenzie play several games, he could not recognize the players.

John Sellars, president of the Clan MacKenzie, and James Blue, manager, have wired the Post-Dispatch denying any ineligible players were used. Both were separate in their assertion that Jimmy Houston actually played at outside left, where he was scheduled and that Donaldson was a center halfback.

Friends Inform Foley.

Foley contends that his friends in Cleveland are positive that the center halfback was Matty Thompson and that the outside left was Frank Stark, both of the Detroit Celts.

meeting in Cleveland later in the week.

Jimmy Dunn, center forward of the Ben Miller team, declared today that the MacKenzie players addressed their center halfback at "Matty" which is the first name of Thompson, of the Detroit Celts.

Description Fits Thompson.
The Detroit correspondent of the Post-Dispatch describes Mat-thy Thompson of the Detroit Celts
as follows:

"Five feet 10 inches tall, light complexion and a large mop of light brown hair."
That's the man," said Foley when he heard this description.
"The bushy light brown thatch was always evident."

Prior to the departure of the Ben Millers from St. Louis last Saturday, Manager Foley wrote
Secretary Brown calling his attention to the fact that the unprecedented switch of referees without apparent grounds had aroused his suspicions.

Government Baking Merger Suit and High Call Money Rate Insufficient to Check Rise in Security Prices—American Can a Feature.

By United Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—The Evening Post's financial review today says: "Threats of Government interference in food mergers and high call money rates proved insufficient to check the rise in security prices on the stock market today. Operations for the rise were resumed with a fair amount of success in many standard industries and several specialties. Such as American Can, American Sugar, American Chemical, Texas Gulf Sulphur, and others were bid up sharply, although the uncertain credit situation was reflected in an uneven trend in the bond market. Several convertible securities were strong in response to the upturn in shares, while realizing sales in other parts of the market brought about reactions. Government bonds and rail securities were steady."

Call Loans at 5 1/2 Per Cent. "Not a little selling pressure and high rate of interest was attributed to the exchange of call loan renewals, 5 1/2 per cent. This figure is the highest since Jan. 4, caused by the fact that the advance yesterday would attract funds from the interior to bring about a decline. Apparently, however, call bankers are showing some hesitancy for the call being in place funds in the collateral loan market here even at attractive rates because of publication of brokerage loan figures showing that more than $3,500,000 had been borrowed from local banks and trust companies at the end of January. The money market was served to check enthusiasm among pool operators, who had anticipated a month of lower rates with a view to carrying on operations for the higher rates, however, that the higher rates cannot long remain and that an enterprising will bring a resumption of speculative operations for the advance."

Several Speculators Buoyant. "Although traders who sold for a decline in several of the food stocks were considerable headway, they were unsuccessful in turning the whole market lower. Strong resistance was encountered in the standard and industrial, and many of the favorites in the specialties, such as good call, California Packing, Postum Cereals, Ward Baking, New York Canners and several others which were strong last week and freely offered at concessions, but American Can, General Electric, United Fruit, and others were in new demand in reflecting 1925 earnings. The new stock at $5.47 a share on split. Texas Gulf Sulphur reached a new peak, while Sloss-Sheffield Steel, Westinghouse Air Brake and International Telephone were strong. Loft Candy spurred more than a point from yesterday's low dividends. In anticipation of resumption, reaching the highest level since the 1923 split-up, led the shares in strong. Several public utilities, including Market Street Railway, were active and higher."

Exchange Rates Lower. "Foreign exchange rates showed a generally lower trend in London held unchanged. Offerings were slightly heavier. French francs and Swedish kronas were firm. A trifle stronger. Argentine and Canadian dollars were lower, while Canadian exchange eased off a trifle."

Commodity Prices Irregular. "A definite trend was lacking in quiet trading in the principal commodities. Grain values rallied after an uncertain start, wheat a bushel in the principal markets and corn advanced more than a bushel. Cotton, however, and grain rather freely offered, and March contracts were weak. Later deliveries received better support."

A Man With a Thousand Dollars

A MAN with a thousand dollars walked into the old offices of S. W. STRAUS & CO. in Chicago about 20 years ago.

He invested his carefully saved surplus in a first mortgage security, explaining that he wished to reinvest the money when the mortgage was due and build up a permanent investment fund, as a guarantee against old age and in order to leave something behind him.

Today this man has more than $50,000 invested in sound, first mortgage securities. He has never earned a very large income; never made a "lucky" financial stroke, but he has saved and invested, reinvested his interest and maturing funds and added what he could from time to time. Today he is known as a substantial, successful citizen and faces the future without fear.

What this man has done you can do, too. The important thing is to start right and select conservative, safe securities for your savings fund. Straus Bonds furnish the ideal medium for building up a fortune. Investigate the STRAUS PLAN. Write today for our booklet which will show how you, too, can obtain financial independence and success. RUINED MAYA CITY FOUND IN YUCATAN

Civilization It Represented Thought to Date Back to 613 B. C.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—A ruined Maya city, containing a dozen buildings and six temples in fair condition, has been discovered by the Mason-Spinden expedition to Yucatan, the New York Times says today in a copyrighted dispatch from Cozumel, Mexico.

Gregory Mason, member of the expedition, reported that the city probably was called Mayil and was once an important post on the trade route between Mayan cities in North Yucatan and Central America. The city is 12 miles inland from Boca do Paila.

One of the temples, Mason reported, bore traces of incense burners and gourd vessels in a subterranean structure, used comparatively recently by Indians fleeing from hostile Mexicans. Wall paintings and inscriptions in the temples have been hopelessly damaged.

The first temple was found Jan. 28 on the edge of a large lake not indicated on current maps. A narrow canal led to a second lake where the city was found at the edge of a forest in the hilly country.

The expedition, Mason said, was guided by descendants of the Mayas, who, contrary to their general policy, were friendly on solicitation of the Mexican government.

Many rare birds were found by the explorers, 15 new species being added to the known Yucatan fauna.

Discovery of this city, the Times says, means that the expedition has succeeded in its main objective of verifying reports by natives that there are cities in Yucatan never seen by white men. Several expeditions to find these ancient places have failed. The Mayan civilization is believed to extend back at least as far as 613 B. C.

That Year of Freedom

by Mildred Barbour

A BROKEN PROMISE

CHAPTER LXII

WHILE Nan was pondering the problem of herself, her husband and the unknown Flora, Larrabee, in the faraway city, was reaching a decision regarding the disturbing information Gordon Prescott had given him about Nan and Louis Brandon.

He was violently and unreasonably jealous, but he kept a tight rein on his emotions and tried to figure the situation out sensibly and logically.

Unlike Nan, he was not surprised to learn that someone was wanting to step into his place and that Nan was confronted with the problem of a love affair.

He had expected it, feared it, hoped against it, but it had come. The question which perplexed him now was whether he should let matters take their course, and trust to Nan's loyalty and the love she once bore him to bring her safely back to him at the end of her year of freedom, or whether he should refuse to risk it and take the affair into his own hands, doing what he could to shape destiny to his liking.

For the first time in several months he went to call on Caroline, determined to ask her advice, since he believed her to be the friend to Nan that she pretended to be. In the face of this new problem, the embarrassing memory of her pursuit of him was erased from his mind.

He found Gordon Prescott there, and from their slightly constrained greeting he felt that they had been discussing him and also that they had been quarreling.

"I've come to ask your advice, Caroline," Larrabee said, without much preamble. "I dare say Gordon has told you about Nan. Do you think I'd be justified in breaking my promise to her and going to see her, under the circumstances? Or would I have more regard for her if I stuck to the agreement and let things work themselves out?"

Caroline was in a quandary.

With Gordon present she couldn't advise Larrabee to let matters alone, because his interference was the one thing Gordon desired. On the other hand, the thing Caroline wanted was silence from Larrabee so that Nan, disturbed by the anonymous letter, would take action herself and put an end to the former's friendship with Flora.

After apparent due deliberation, Caroline said:

"It's too serious a problem for me to give any advice about, Dane. I don't know the state of your heart or of Nan's. From the appearance of things, it looks as though both of you had drifted, but it may not be too late. However, if I were you, I'd slow down a bit on my acquaintance with the young woman you had with you that night in the restaurant. You're being talked about and you can't afford it. Only yesterday I heard some women discussing you at a bridge and they were all wondering if your mother had heard the gossip yet. You know, Dane, it would just about kill her. She was fearfully cut up when you and Nan separated and now, if there was gossip and disgrace, she'd probably die of a broken heart."

Larrabee flushed and hit a cigar nervously.

"Of course you're right, Caroline. My acquaintance with Miss Hartley has been purely casual and friendly—I was lonely and she has proved a pleasant companion. But I'm beginning to realize that it's unwise. I'll cut it down in the future."

Caroline beamed upon him.

"Sensible man! I knew you'd come to see it in the right light. And if you're lonely, come and play with Gordon and me again. We've missed you all these months."

Larrabee promised, but he had little intention of fulfilling it. While he had talked with Caroline, his subconscious mind had reached a decision.

He would go to Nan. Not openly, not to take her to task, or to urge her to return. But he would just happen to be in the same city—he could arrange things so that it would seem to be business that called him there—and he would contrive somehow, as though by chance, to meet her.

Thus, he would find out for himself how the land lay and without reminding her of their relationship or the agreement between them, he would woo her again subtly. If she loved him, life would be rosy and beautiful. If she didn't, he would at least have the satisfaction of knowing that he had done everything he could. He would suffer the bitterness of failure, but he would have no regrets for an opportunity unseized.

Although he didn't admit it openly to himself, he experienced a feeling of relief that the pursuit of this course of action would sever his friendship with Flora, put an end to an association that was getting a trifle irksome and exacting, and satisfactorily quell the gossip, who were busy linking their names.

Three days later, acting quickly on his decision, he was installed in comfortable quarters in the city where he had first met Nan. The location of his hostelry was not far from the address which he knew, through his lawyer, was hers. Any day he might meet her in the street. The thought set his heart to beating with lover-like fastness.

Two days later, he had still not met her.

That evening, his telephone rang. When he took down the receiver, Flora's soft, plaintive voice greeted him.

THE CLINGING VINE

CHAPTER LXIII

LARRABEE'S heart sank when he recognized Flora's voice.

"But this isn't long distance," he said. "Where are you?"

"Right here in town," she answered with a little cooing laugh. "Wasn't it clever of me—I called your office yesterday and they gave me your address. I simply couldn't wait for you to write. Oh, Dane, I've been so lonely."

"It's nice of you to say so, child," he attempted heartily. "But how do you happen to be in town?"

"Why I came to be near you, of course," she told him promptly. "You know poor little me—I'm only a wanderer. There's nothing to keep me any place special."

Larrabee was frowning and his lips were grim.

"This was just a little too much!" "Do you think it's wise?" he said, remembering to keep his tone gentle lest she burst into tears, as was her wont on being reproved, and give the hotel operator food for gossip. "If people know about your coming here they may say unkind things."

"I don't care," she declared recklessly.

"But I do," he told her, "both for your sake and mine."

"Oh, Dane," he noted with disquiet the quaver beginning in her voice. He could visualize her—wistful, blue eyes flooding, soft, weak mouth trembling.

"Now, now, Flora. Don't be distressed. I don't mean to be reproachful, but—"

"I was so lonely," she broke in tremulously. "I wanted to see you so badly and I thought you'd be glad to see me. I thought I'd give you a nice surprise—and now—I—"

The sentence ended in an unmistakable sob.

"Flora, please," Larrabee begged hastily. "Control yourself. I'm sorry. I was just surprised, that's all, and a little worried for fear you might have caused people to say unpleasant things about you."

"Oh, you are cruel!" "Where are you stopping?" Larrabee demanded in desperation. "Let's ring off now and I'll come over to see you."

"And—and—take me to dinner!" she inquired tearfully. "I haven't eaten and I'm famished."

"Yes," he assented resignedly. "Where are you?"

"She told him. It was a hotel a few blocks away."

"I couldn't get into your hotel," she told him naively. "I never thought to wire in advance and they were all filled up!"

Larrabee thanked his stars that such was the case. Flora in the same city was bad enough for appearance, but Flora in the same hostelry would have been fatal.

He found her looking sweet, and wistful, and resigned, as such women can look when they want to make a man feel that he has been a brute and scorned a beautiful proffer of devotion. She was wearing a gown of brilliant green crepe embroidered in gold in a bold design of birds of paradise with sweeping tail feathers. Her hair was freshly marcelled.

"I went to the beauty shop downstairs," she explained, "and was lucky enough to find it open even so late. It's well I was able to get waved, because we're going to a party after dinner."

Larrabee frowned.

"What sort of a party? Where? Whose?"

"A studio party," she explained, with blushing assurance. "I don't know the name of the person who's giving it—I was told it out I've forgotten. I have the address, though."

"You see," she went on, "while I was in the beauty shop I met a girl I used to know awfully well. She's a model or something now and always gets to awfully amusing parties. She invited me to meet her at this one tonight—says the man keeps open house and the more the merrier. We'll run over there after dinner."

"But a strange host!" Larrabee protested. "We may not be welcome, Flora, and besides—"

"Oh, everybody's welcome at a studio party. Nobody ever knows who is coming or catches the name of half the guests," she assured him easily.

Her soft mouth set itself stubbornly. Larrabee knew the signs. When Flora made up her mind to go somewhere, nothing could stop her, arguments or entreaties. If she was too strongly crossed, she always dissolved in tears and there was a painful scene.

But we hear nothing from parents in the case of modern youth in revolt against old standards.

What is their viewpoint? Are they going to allow a defense of their arraignment go by default? Are parents wholly responsible for the behavior of modern youth. And how do they interpret that behavior? As freedom or folly? As alarming or encouraging symptoms?

Are there not some parents who, far from being aware that they are responsible for the behavior of their sons and daughters, are rather nonplussed at their offspring getting out of hand?

So it is with the modern or present-day youngster. Prohibition of intoxicating liquors has made them more desirable. Letters From Readers in Flaming Youth Debate

Letters From Readers in Flaming Youth Debate

By MARGUERITE MARTIN.

IN this discussion of modern youth and the revolution he is undergoing, is there not somebody who will say a good word for parents, either old style or modern?

At the open forum discussion of this subject, led by some of the most eminent ministers and sociologists of the city, which prompted its further discussion in our columns, the majority opinion was that parents or antecedents and environment provided by the older generation, were responsible for all the faults that are found with modern youth.

Today we have letters, most of them from representatives of the younger generation, attacking the subject from various angles, offering various excuses for themselves and their contemporaries and even in some cases blaming themselves a little.

"W. A. Y." takes the optimistic view that youth must have its fling and that prohibitions and inhibitions only furnish fuel for "flaming youth." He is two and twenty and in him the fascination of all the popular indulgences has burned itself out. What a pity we cannot all acquire wisdom at that early age. Then truly there would be no flaming youth problem worth bothering about.

Blames Past Generations.

"O. A. Martin," writing from Columbia, Mo., blames first the failures and mistakes of past generations for the rebellion of youth, but folds youth responsible for all the upsurge which is going, has gone, entirely too far.

"Just a Young Man" blames standards set by the older generation for all the transgression of the younger. Then at last comes "Daily Reader" with the revelation that there still exists one member of the younger generation who disdains not to accept the counsel of her parents. They are old-fashioned parents, too, it seems. However, she shifts the onus to another element in the older ranks, to greed on the part of our commercial interests.

But we hear nothing from parents in the case of modern youth in revolt against old standards.

What is their viewpoint? Are they going to allow a defense of their arraignment go by default? Are parents wholly responsible for the behavior of modern youth. And how do they interpret that behavior? As freedom or folly? As alarming or encouraging symptoms?

when they get tired they'll quit. Above all don't forbid them doing these things—they'll go for it stronger. For myself I'm 22, been going around plenty, studied the problems, learned my lesson, and now I'm through. The rest will follow suit when they get their lesson and get tired.

W. A. Y.

Would Indict Youth.

Youth is in rebellion against the failures and mistakes of the past. It is disgusted with the hypocrites that have and do exist in such institutions as the home, marriage and religion; and its rebellion is an attempt to get away from them. For this youth should be praised.

But here is where it falls down. In attempting to avoid these shams it endeavors to throw overboard the home and religion—institutions that are fundamentally necessary to the welfare of all. What youth should do is to cleanse them of their evils. However, that would require the expenditure of more energy than it does to "jazz around" and "pass the buck" to the parents, "who are to blame."

One of these days the real modern youth will come along and clean house and settle down.

O. A. MARTIN.

Defense of Youth.

Why all this tommy-rot about the modern young man and young woman? Boy and girl, if that suits you older folks better. Ninety per cent of what you hear about us isn't true, anyway, and if you older folks are judging younger ones by yourselves you know well, we won't delve into anybody's past. This carrying on about the modern (Oh, that word "modern," how it is abused!) boy and girl is all foolishness; but I'm writing this to give my opinion on the 10 per cent which are rightly called "modern."

Who is writing the vulgar stories which are pictured today? You older folks! "The Merry Widow," "The Wife of the Centaur," and numerous other debasing novels? You older folks, who have had college educations to use for bettering Christianity, have written that kind of debasing, ill-witted stuff. Your excuse for this stuff is, "It has a moral; it has a lesson." Yes, it has, but by the time you get to the lesson part of it the mind is in such a state that the lesson has very little, if any, effect.

How many of you know that Jesus Christ said: "Thou shalt not get a divorce except for the cause of adultery," and are teaching your children to adhere to those words?

How many of you are taking your children in hand at the age of 14, the psychological time of absorption, and telling them what's right and wrong before they have the chance to read the nasty stuff, see it in pictures, and hear it from older companions?

No, I will not place the blame upon the young. Answer the above questions honestly and then you will discard all wonder that there isn't more truth in what we hear about them.

Above all, do your boys and girls go to church?

JUST A YOUNG MAN.

Not a "Flapper."

I am a girl 18 years of age, and I must admit that I'm no "flapper," having no bobbed hair, use no lipstick, rouge or face powder, and work in an office amongst a crowd of 18 "flappers," and I'll tell the world it is mighty embarrassing to get in a conversation with them. Everything is clothes, cosmetics, dance halls and "boy friends." From their description I would not care to be seen with the likes of any of them. I go out and have quite a bit of fun, with girls of my own type, as my parents are against the ways of the flappers and lounge lizards or flack boys, in regard to having a good time.

Now, most of the speakers at Temple Israel (from what I've read in the newspapers) seem to blame the parents. But why blame them in all cases? If a girl is not in style and up to the ways of the world, what show has she, at any affair, be it social or public, and even at work? Why not blame the manufacturers and business people in some instances? Aren't they the persons who are the originators of these styles, fads and fancies, which so many parents are against? One of the speakers at Temple Israel said, "The parents should not give in to their children." I wish he'd take the part of the young girl or parent, who want to do the best they can.

Of course, in some cases parents are to blame when they themselves, run around and do not care where their children are, nor when they come home. Thank goodness, my parents are of a different type.

As to the "flack on the hip," I think prohibition is its only cause. A DAILY READER.

Dancing Fashions.

Shoes in America dance to the tune of the Scotch and French looms, according to one of the largest shoe manufacturers in America. He meant that the colors of the fabric produced abroad determine the colors of shoes which will be in demand here. The vogue for "bracken brown" shoes, he attributes to the new brown Scotch tweeds, and predicts popularity for the Bristol red by Easter.

Why Girls Don't Leave Me—Sp

BETSY REMEMBERED SHE HAD A PEERLESS DATE FOR TOMORROW A.M.

LOTS of girls run away from home—to New York from Hollywood—and to Hollywood from New York—but there are a lot who start, who mean to like anything, and never do!

They get as far on their world-wide and life-long journey as the front porch; and then some dearly beloved, homely thing throws sand in the delicate wheels of their plans, and paints the picture of home in livelier hues than the fair, unknown landscape of Adventure. And they climb back into the darkened, comfy atmosphere of that place where they are thought to be the eighth wonder, where Dad and Mom are, and all the young, postiferous clan of brothers and sisters. The home-nest!

Just before Betsy looked over the window sill, in that house conspired to do the ultimate sum of one foot, dainty and satin clad just as she was trying to get mad because they were trying to get mad. Mothers' and Fathers' little girls were before mid-night—ONE foot still in the own room and the OTHER out in the night, she suddenly felt very young and that gobs of sympathy, and knew that she was so sure to get it free as at home.

She suddenly remembered that home

face powder, and work in an office amongst a crowd of 18 "flappers," and I'll tell the world it is mighty embarrassing to get in a conversation with them. Everything is clothes, cosmetics, dance halls and "boy friends." From their description I would not care to be seen with the likes of any of them. I go out and have quite a bit of fun, with girls of my own type, as my parents are against the ways of the flappers and lounge lizards or flack boys, in regard to having a good time.

Now, most of the speakers at Temple Israel (from what I've read in the newspapers) seem to blame the parents. But why blame them in all cases? If a girl is not in style and up to the ways of the world, what show has she, at any affair, be it social or public, and even at work? Why not blame the manufacturers and business people in some instances? Aren't they the persons who are the originators of these styles, fads and fancies, which so many parents are against? One of the speakers at Temple Israel said, "The parents should not give in to their children." I wish he'd take the part of the young girl or parent, who want to do the best they can.

As to the "flack on the hip," I think prohibition is its only cause. A DAILY READER.

Dancing Fashions.

Shoes in America dance to the tune of the Scotch and French looms, according to one of the largest shoe manufacturers in America. He meant that the colors of the fabric produced abroad determine the colors of shoes which will be in demand here. The vogue for "bracken brown" shoes, he attributes to the new brown Scotch tweeds, and predicts popularity for the Bristol red by Easter.

't Leave—Speaking for Betsy

DRAWN BY NELL BRINKLEY

TOMORROW A.M.!

Just before Betsy looked out the window, she saw everyone at home conspiring to show her the count in the ultimate sum of things. She was how dumb! But right on the spot, she got mad and she was trying to make her mother's little girls were in the middle of the OTHER out in the yard. She suddenly felt very young and light as she so to get it free as at home! She suddenly remembered that home had! She remembered how gray her two parents' hair had grown. She remembered the snub-nose of little Bill and that he always picked her out to fix the wheels back on his engine. She remembered—she remembered—and remembered, until her eyes began to sting and swim, and the star of the street lamp outside had a cluster of giant prongs through her magnifying tears, and she grew a knob in her throat like a crab apple that would neither go up nor down.

And she remembered that she had a perfectly peerless date in the morning with the best looking boy in town and was going to wear her new sweater and socks, and that her mother had said that there was going to be MAPLE CAKE tomorrow night—with the maple still hot! And then her mouth watered as well as her two brown eyes.

And she climbed back into the window again! Little children who were running away from home have wept and stayed, because—they had to kiss their grandmother goodbye. Little children have stayed—because they could not see their folks' bitter and repentant tears for the lost one—if they WENT!

And one little girl—long time ago—ran away from home as far as the back porch, to be gone FOREVER, and then smelled doughnuts cooking in the kitchen, wafting their ambrosial aroma through the open window—and the expedition was off. —NELL BRINKLEY.

AND THAT THERE WAS GOING TO BE MAPLE-CAKE TOMORROW P.M.!

Where Your Style of Hat Is Dictated by Religion

THE recent adoption of the European hat by the men of Turkey and the great commotion it caused, recalls the origin of the picturesque "fez" which has for so long been the distinctive head-dress of the Turk.

It was not generally known that that particular type of hat was authorized by the Mohammedan religion. For the Mohammedan must wear his hat when at prayer. He must also bow down and touch the ground with his head. And you can easily see that it requires a hat which will stick to the head, a hat which has no brim, and a hat which is soft and not easily broken, to serve this purpose.

For when the Muezzin calls all the faithful to prayer, he must turn toward Mecca, he must unfold his prayer rug, and he must get down on his knees and touch his head to the ground. In this attitude he must make his prayer to Allah.

The fez is not the only picturesque part of this scene. The rugs establishing new and more advanced ideas and habits among the people. And it may be a very wise step. Still we must regret the loss of that distinctive bit of color on the European landscape.

Sour Cream Salad Dressing.
Take a cupful of sour cream and add to it a tablespoonful of sugar, a half-teaspoonful of salt, three tablespoonfuls of vinegar and a half-teaspoonful of powdered dried mint leaves. Mix well and add a half-spoonful of cayenne. This recipe is excellent with a cucumber salad.

Sprinkle this cloth with Golden Peacock Astringent. Upon this apply two or three hot Turkish towels. Now wet a soft rag with the Astringent and apply to the face and neck. Peter Regains Faith in His Eyes

There's nothing finer to attain
Than faith in self restored again.

Peter Rabbit.

OK two days Peter Rabbit couldn't get it out of his head that he had seen Mocker the Mocking Bird up by Farmer Brown's house. He couldn't get it out of his head that he had seen Mocker, yet he couldn't believe that he had seen Mocker. It was very confusing and disturbing. He was sure he had and he was sure he hadn't, and that is a dreadful state of mind to be in.

So Peter, being what he is, took the very first opportunity to go back to the Old Orchard near Farmer Brown's house. Almost the first person he saw after daylight came was a gray and white bird which instantly reminded him of Mocker the Mocking Bird; but it wasn't Mocker. He knew that the instant he looked at the stranger's bill. There was a tiny hook on the end of that bill. Moreover, the stranger was hunting Tommy Tit the Chickadee. Yes sir he was doing his best to catch Tommy Tit. Tommy was dodging about in the thickest bushes he could find.

"It's Butcher the Shrike," said Peter to himself. "It must have been Butcher that I saw the other day. I didn't get a real good look at him, but that is who it must have been. I would much rather have discovered Mocker the Mocking Bird, but I am glad to have the puzzle settled. I am glad to know who it really was."

At that very instant Peter happened to look over to Farmer Brown's house and there was another gray and white bird just alighting in the vine on Farmer Brown's house. From where he sat Peter could see that this feathered neighbor was making his breakfast on berries that were still on that vine. Peter swallowed hard a couple of times as though he had a lump in his throat. If this wasn't Mocker the Mocking Bird, Peter scowled hard a couple of times, as though he had a lump in his throat.

then Peter didn't know Mocker when he saw him. This was the one he had seen a few days before. Now he knew that his eyes had not deceived him. "It is Mocker! It is! It is! As surely as I can sit on my own tail, it is Mocker the Mocking Bird!" said Peter to himself. "Of course, it can't be, but it is. Butcher the Shrike wouldn't be eating berries. But how can Mocker, who belongs down in the Sunny South, live up here in the land of snow and ice?"

I must look into this. This is the most surprising thing I ever heard of. I remember that Welcome Robin once spent the winter here, but Welcome belongs up here, anyway, and Mocker doesn't, even in the summer time. There's Sammy Jay. I'll see what Sammy knows about it. Hi, Sammy Jay!"

Sammy Jay, who was flying over Peter, looked down and saw him. He at once alighted just above Peter's head. "My goodness, Peter," exclaimed Sammy, "What is the matter with your eyes?"

"Nothing is the matter with my eyes," retorted Peter rather shortly.

"They look big enough for you to have seen a ghost," retorted Sammy.

"Well, I haven't seen a ghost," replied Peter, "but I have seen Mocker the Mocking Bird."

Peter eagerly watched Sammy Jay for a look of surprise. But Sammy didn't look surprised at all. "Well, what of it?" said Sammy. "I have seen Mocker the Mocking Bird every day for most of the winter so far. What is there wonderful about that?" replied Sammy.

"I said that I had seen Mocker the Mocking Bird every day for most of the winter so far. What is there wonderful about that?" replied Sammy.

"Then he really is spending the winter up here?" cried Peter.

"Of course, stupid!" retorted Sammy. "Otherwise I couldn't have seen him, could I?" Peter had to admit that this was true.

Mother— Be sure you get Pepsodent for child's teeth and gums

Do you want your child to have prettier teeth now, and better protection from serious tooth and gum troubles all through later life?

Mail the coupon then for a 10-day tube of Pepsodent, free. See what the world's leading dentists urge mothers to use as science's latest attainment in tooth and gum care.

Film... what it is
The enemy of teeth and gums

You will notice a film on your child's teeth. That's a frequent danger sign—an invitation for tooth and gum troubles. The same stubborn film that you can feel by running your tongue across your own teeth.

Mere brushing won't do. You must combat it. Ordinary dentifrices won't fight it successfully.

Film is the greatest enemy of tooth health. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. Germs breed in it and imperil both teeth and gums. The acid that leads to early decay forms. Old-type methods failed to combat it. So men of science engaged themselves in discovering an effective combatant—one new and different.

It removes that film
And firms the gums

Now in Pepsodent, two new combatants are embodied—combatants approved by highest dental authority. It curdles the film, gently removes it; then firms the gums. It keeps the teeth whiter, cleaner, more sparkling. It is the modern scientific method for better tooth protection. Insist upon it. Get a tube today. Mail the coupon.

MUSSOLINI STICK
A FIERY REJOINDER TO GERMAN REPLY

Says "Stresemann Can interpret as He Chooses" Phrase About Possible Evolution of Tyrol.

FASCIST PREMIER HARANGUES SENATE

Confirms "Letter and Spirit" of Previous Address to Which Foreign Minister in Berlin Replied.

By the Associated Press.
ROME, Feb. 10.—Replying to the Italian Senate today to yesterday's address by Foreign Minister Stresemann of Germany, Premier Mussolini said:

"I confirm the letter and spirit of my previous speech, not excluding the accent upon my phrase referring to the possibility of the Italian flag going beyond the Brennero frontier, which Stresemann can interpret as he chooses."

"Stresemann in his speech confirmed all the points

Mussolini asserted that Italy would interpret his phrase in regard to the Brennero Pass as meaning that Italy would never violate the treaties of peace guaranteeing a frontier won by blood. He said that Dr. Stresemann had not denied a single of the charges he had made in speech of last Saturday, and categorically that Italy would ask for a supplementary guarantee in regard to the Brennero frontier.

Denies Any Comparison.

The Premier declared it was impossible to compare the question of the Italian minority in Jugoslavia with that of the German minority in the Upper Silesia territory.

"It is hardly necessary," added, "to repeat that our policy in Upper Silesia, which I Roman equity, will be continued."

He concluded by declaring that the German population in the territory did not constitute a minority, that Italy would not accept any discussion of the matter in any assembly or council (an parent reference to the League Nations), and that the Fascist Government would "react with maximum energy against any of this nature."

The absence of the Italian Ambassador from Berlin, confirmed day, has no bearing on and is related to the present controversy between Italy and Germany.

The Ambassador, Count de dant, left Berlin two weeks ago and the counselor of the embassy
A. Guarnieri, left a month ago.
Both came to Rome on request leaves of absence, and were before the present situation developed.

The Premier spent the greater part of the night preparing speech.

Advisers Called to Palace.
Gathering a number of advisers in his offices in the Chigi Palace, the Premier went over Dr. Stresemann's speech, word for word, text having been translated by Italian Embassy in Berlin.

Announcement that Mussolini intended to reply held in check violence of the indignation provoked everywhere in political circles as the text of Stresemann's speech was studied.

Germany's Plea to Enter League Received at Geneva.

By the Associated Press.
GENEVA, Feb. 10.—Foreign Minister Stresemann today submitted his formal application for admission to the League of Nations.
Everything indicates that Germany will utilize the league to the greatest extent possible to secure advancement of the German ideas and German interests, as she believes are legitimate.

The application for membership
submitted by Consul General Mann, over Dr. Stresemann's nature, said in part:

"I have the honor, in accordance with Article I of the constitution of the League of Nations, to apply, on behalf of the German Government, for admission to the league, respectfully requesting to place the application on the agenda of the league assembly as soon as possible."

Attached to the application a copy of the note agreed upon at the Locarno conference the Allies' interpretation of Article 16 of the league covering Germany, and stating that her obligations under the article would be tempered.
